Nimitz Bids Japs Use Radio to Guam

LONDON, Aug. 13 (INS)—A dispatch filed by a Reuter's correspondent aboard a British battleship in the Pacific said that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz had invited the Japanese to make radio contact with Guam if they lacked a means of communicating their surrender decision. The dispatch was dated from a "British battleship off Tokyo." Reports from Guam said that Admiral Nimitz had boarded the Duke of York where he was made a Knight of the Order of the Bath.

SWISS DENY DELAY IN TERMS TRANSMISSION

U. S. Still Awaiting Reply

By Associated Press

The Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei dispatch today saying the official text of the Allied reply to the Japanese government's message offering surrender was received today in Tokyo through the Swiss legation.

This Domei message was recorded by the Associated Press in New York from an English language wireless transmission at 9:04 a. m., (Boston time).

The dispatch was sent by Domei as a bulletin. It gave no additional details.

In Washington, the White House announced that as of 3 p. m., EWT, no word had been received from Tokyo regarding Japanese surrender.

The Allied reply to the Japanese, making it clear that Emperor Hirohito would have to be subservient to an Allied supreme commander, was dispatched to Japan Saturday at 10:30 a. m., Boston time, through the Swiss legation in Washington.

Text of the Domei transmission: "Bulletin.

"Tokio 13/8 (Aug. 13).

"Authoritatively disclosed official text Allied reply to Japanese government's message was received in Tokyo today Monday through Swiss legation (end)."

At the time of the broadcast it was 10:04 p. m. in Tokyo.

Domei followed the announcement with a French-language broadcast, saying Emperor Hirohito had received in audience Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo at 2:10 this afternoon (1:10 a. m., Eastern War Time).

"Togo made a report to the throne on affairs under his jurisdiction," the Domei broadcast said.

After this, the Tokyo wireless transmitter said, "Stand by," at 9:14 a. m., Eastern War Time.

After less than five minutes of silence, Tokyo resumed dissemination of routine Domei dispatches in the French language.

The Allied reply to Tokyo was received in Bern, Switzerland, at 4:05 p. m., E. W. T., Saturday, and was delivered to the Japanese minister, Shunichi Kase, 20 minutes later for transmission to Tokyo.

The Japanese news agency today suspended for 12 hours its scheduled news service to the Orient.

The suspension, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. (Japanese time), was announced without explanation at the end of a routine wireless transmission.

Washington Has Jitters Keeping Surrender Vigil

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (INS)—The vigil began again today.

For the third straight day Washington watched the hours tick off slowly while it awaited news from the White House on the end of the war.

President Truman arrived at his desk at his usual hour—about 8:30. Secy. Byrnes entered the State Department at 8:34 a. m. carrying a sheaf of papers.

The Swiss legation, which is handling the exchange of notes between the United States and Japan, said no reply had been received from Tokyo.

The War, Navy and other departments carried on routine activities.

But the long week-end of anxious and uneventful waiting for the reply from Tokyo left the capital worn and jittery.

Contrasting Sunday's hopeful crowds in front of the executive mansion, Lafayette Park, across Pennsylvania ave., was empty this morning except for a handful who apparently paused on their way to work. Workmen started cleaning up the debris-littered lawns.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, who stayed at his desk late last night to quash the false report of a Jap surrender, reported back to the White House early this morning, as did Eben Ayres, another member of the White House press staff.

President Truman scheduled several appointments during the morning.

Sen. Dennis Chavez (D.) of New Mexico, and Charles Margiotti, former attorney-general of Pennsylvania, were the first callers.

Later the President was to receive Labor Sec'y Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Economic Stabilizer Wiliam H. Davis, WLB Chairman George W. Taylor and OPA Admr. Chester Bowles.

50 to 75 Die In Detroit Blast

DETROIT, Aug. 13 (INS)—Between 50 and 75 men and women were killed in an explosion and blast that shattered the Export Box and Sealer Plant, Christian Nelson, director of traffic in the police department, said at 3:15 p. m. today.

Witnesses said flames shot more than 50 feet into the air. From the roof and every window screaming men and women leaped to the pavement, many with clothing ablaze.

Six ambulance loads of bodies were taken from the scene. Men and women arrived at receiving hospital with their clothes burneed off. Many had one or more limbs broken.

The Weather

Local—Partly cloudy and continued warm and humid tonight and Tuesday. The lowest temperature tonight will be about 68. Gentle variable winds.

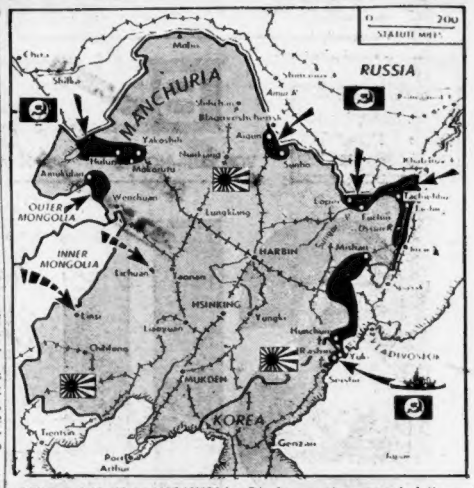
Jap Lie on Peace Delay Nailed

LONDON, Aug. 13 (INS)—The Swiss radio quoted a Swiss Foreign Office statement declaring that the Domei report that the Allied reply to the Jap surrender offer had been received in Tokyo only today was untrue.

Reuter's, which picked up the Swiss radio, said the statement declared that receipt of the Allied reply was confirmed by Japan Sunday, Aug. 12, 9:35 a. m., (Japan Time).

The Swiss Foreign Office statement said flatly that the Allied reply was received in Bern Aug. 11 at 9:05 p. m., and was "brought to the knowledge" of the Japanese minister at 9:25 p. m., the same day.

The Japanese minister's telegram to the Japanese government in Tokyo was dispatched from Bern at 11:24 p. m. Aug. 11. The message was repeated by the minister at 8:00 a. m., the next day, Aug. 12.



REDS GAIN IN MANCHURIA—Russian marines invaded Korea under the protecting guns of the Soviet Pacific Fleet (ship symbol) while other Red gains were reported in several sections of Manchuria (black areas), while Tokyo reports other drives by the Soviets (broken arrows) which were not mentioned in the Moscow communique.

Reds Open New Drive

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 13—Tokyo reported today a vast new Soviet offensive in Manchuria which threatened to cut off possibly a half million Japanese troops in China and split an estimated 1,500,000 enemy forces on the Asiatic mainland into two massive pockets.

There was no immediate Soviet confirmation of the Tokyo report, which originated at Command Headquarters of the Japanese Kwantung army in Manchuria. A Moscow communique, fourth of the Soviet-Japanese war, told of Soviet gains of nine to 22 miles toward the central Manchurian arsenal city of Harbin.

An unconfirmed Japanese broadcast said Russian troops had begun landings at Anbetsu and Esutoru in the Nippinese-held southern part of Sakhalin island. Anbetsu is just below the border of Soviet Sakhalin on the west coast and Esutoru is about 60 miles south of Anbetsu.

The Soviet bulletin also announced that Russian Marines invading Korea under the guns of the Soviet Pacific Fleet had seized the vital ports of Rashin and Yuki on the sea of Japan, after Adm. Ivan Yumashev's ships bombarded the bases and Red army planes cascaded tons of explosives on the wharves and harbors in a three-day aerial pounding.

Rashin, a great Japanese naval base just 35 miles from the Russian naval anchorage of Poset, south of Vladivostok, was the best enemy port in Korea. From Rashin and Yuki, 10 miles farther northeast, the Japanese had shipped the vast war production of Manchuria's industries to the homeland.

The Russians, who had stormed ashore 90 miles southwest of Vladivostok, also menaced the port of Seishin, 36 miles southwest of Rashin.

Tokyo, broadcasting a communique of the Kwantung Army, said the new Soviet Manchurian drive was launched from outer Mongolia across inner Mongolia, and aimed at the Yellow sea. Linsi, southwest Manchuria road center and air base, was reported imperilled as the Russians hammered across a mountainous caravan route from Wuchumintsin in inner Mongolia, 150 miles to the north.

Should the Russians capture Linsi and drive on to the Yellow sea coast 240 miles farther southeast, the enemy would be isolated in China. The town is 197 miles from the China frontier and only 70 north of the northernmost rail line linking central China with Mukden in Manchuria.

Marshal Kirill A. Meretskov's First Far Eastern Army smashed ahead 22 miles in Manchuria after capturing Hunchun, 37 miles to the west, controlling rail routes from central Manchuria to Seishin, was endangered as the Russians surged ahead on a 230-mile front north and northeast of Hunchun.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's Trans-Baikal Army driving through the Great Khingan range into Manchuria from the northwest has captured Miantuho, on the Chinese Eastern Railway 350 miles from Harbin in another strong advance, the Soviet communique announced tonight.

Japs Long Ready to Quit

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Aug. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—The Chinese army newspaper Sao Tang Po said today Japan was ready to offer up her war leaders as hara-kiri victims and retreat to her 1931 boundaries as conditions of peace, even before the first atomic bomb fell and Russia entered the Pacific war.

Quoting Hsieh Nan Kuang, described as a leader of the Formosan revolutionary league, the paper pictured the growth of a surrender clique in Tokyo as fire bombs and explosives fell on Japan's cities, and American carrier planes struck her fleet.

It described the Empress Nagako as a peace plan organizer.

Here is the newspaper's account of Hsieh's report:

The first step toward peace was taken June 3 by imperial household Minister Tsuneo Matsudaira, business manager for the imperial family and its fortune, which has been estimated at four per cent of all the wealth in Japan.

Matsudaira resigned with the aim of organizing a pro-American, pro-British surrender cabinet. The plan failed because of the army's opposition.

Japan's situation was getting worse daily, however, and on June 28 Premier Adm. Kantaro Suzuki called a meeting of all the elder statesmen, including all former premiers, at which he reported indications Russia would join the war.

The meeting decided to instruct Ambassador Naotake Sato in Moscow to pay special attention to Russia's attitude. Meantime, the government prepared peace proposals for submission through Moscow to the Big Three at Potsdam. These finally were forwarded to Premier Stalin in Emperor Hirohito's name.

Japanese army leaders, meantime, split on whether to surrender, but both sides wanted the Emperor to take the reins of government. This desire became a demand after Japan's fleet was wiped out as a fighting force on July 18.

The Empress Nogoka was sent to seek advice of the Dowager Empress and on her return, it was decided to form a commission to decide definitely on the question of continuing the war or surrendering.

The commission consisted of 21 persons, including the Imperial Princes Chichibu and Takamatsu and leading army and navy officers.

This commission decided Japan would surrender, provided that the Emperor retained his sovereignty, that Japan kept Formosa and Korea and that Japan retained her army and navy subject to Allied restrictions. As a fourth condition, it proposed that those responsible for the war would commit suicide and the Allies would drop war criminal charges.

Before these conditions could be placed before the Allies, the Potsdam ultimatum was announced.

After the Americans dropped the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima and Japan lost a possible mediator through Russia's declaration of war, the Japanese peace commission held an emergency meeting which lasted throughout the night of Aug. 8.

This meeting, the newspaper said, produced Japan's offer to surrender on the Potsdam terms, provided the Emperor could be retained.

Lt. Col. Graham to Be Truman's Physician

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Lt. Col. Wallace Graham of Kansas City will be appointed personal physician to President Truman. Graham, a medical officer in the Army, is a personal friend of the President.

The appointment progably will become effective after V. Adm. Ross T. McIntyre returns to Washington from an assignment. McIntyre was personal physician to President Roosevelt.

Fleet Rips Yokohama's Docks, Pens

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

GUAM, Aug. 13 (AP)—Adm. Halsey's Third Fleet blasted the Yokohama docks and submarine pens in a resumption of the assault on Japan today and stood alert for one last, desperate aerial banzai charge which the Tokyo radio implied already had began.

Domei Agency declared Jap planes had launched an attack on the great naval force, which had planned to hurl its air power at Tokyo targets but was balked by heavy weather.

There was no confirmation of this report, but Associated Press Correspondent Richard K. O'Malley, with the fleet, said such a blow was expected and that six enemy planes attempting sneak attacks already had been shot down.

Radio dispatches from Halsey's flagship said more than 1000 British and American pilots were participating, and despite rough, rainy weather the Tokyo radio counted 800 sorties by the bombers and fighters before 10 a. m., Tokyo time. The broadcast claimed eight were shot down and 16 damaged.

A Japanese torpedo plane was shot down near the vast fleet early this morning, and Adm. Nimitz announced another had torpedoed and damaged a "major war vessel" at Okinawa Sunday night.

Tokyo radio broadcast a Japanese Imperial Headquarters communique claiming Nipponese submarines sank a large seaplane tender off Okinawa Sunday.

A Japanese broadcast today said Nipponese marine forces had sunk a large aircraft carrier off Okinawa.

Norman Paige, in an American Broadcasting Company report from the Third Fleet, said it was a battleship and Spencer Davis, AP correspondent, said it suffered only minor damage.

Both Nimitz and Halsey had maintained a tense alert against possible Japanese treachery during the two-day naval lull ended by this morning's smashing attack.

Targets were the 60 to 70 airfields surrounding Tokyo, military installations and arsenals. Results were not immediately reported.

Gen. George C. Kenney declared his squadrons continued their attacks Sunday and swept over the enemy homeland again today.

B-29s resumed attacks after only a one-day respite, striking Sunday with a 70-plane blow at industrial Matsuyama on Shikoku, the enemy radio reported.

EASE TRAVEL FOR ALIENS

German aliens not on parole will be permitted to travel up to 400 miles without first applying for permission, U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon announced today. The order is effective Aug. 15.

3d Atomic Bomb To Spur Japs?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Allied world waited with growing impatience today for word that Japan is ready to surrender on Allied terms.

Prolonged delay on the part of Tokyo appears certain to bring a resumption of American atomic bomb attacks.

Du Ponts' Atomic Bomb Pay $1

WILMINGTON, Del. Aug. 13 (AP)—The E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. was paid one dollar for heping the government develop two plants costing $350,000 in furtherance of the atomic bomb project, a report to stockholders revealed today.

W. S. Carpenter, Jr., president, said the firm had insisted there be no profit and that any patent rights developing out of the project should become the property of the U. S. Government.

The government paid the $350,000 needed to engineer, design and construct a small-scale semi-works at the Clinton Engineer Works in Tennessee and to engineer, design, construct and operate a large-scale plant at the Hanford works in Washington, Carpenter said.

Only U. S. Knows All Atomic Facts

OTTAWA, Aug. 13 (AP)—The United States is the only country which knows all the details of the atomic bomb but the information would be made available to Canada and Britain if they should ask for it, Munitions Minister C. D. Howe said today.

While Canada made essential parts of the bomb, the Canadian government for reasons of security decided not to ask for complete details of the bomb and the United Kingdom followed a similar course, Howe told a press conference.

Queen Mary Will Sail to Hub

Next visit of the Queen Mary to the United States will be to Boston to return the main body of the 30th Infantry Division to home soil, according to an Associated Press dispatch today from Paris.

Officials at the Army Base said they had not yet been informed the huge British liner, which usually carries 15,000 soldiers, would visit this port.

According to the Paris dispatch, the main body of the famed "Three-X" division already was arriving at Southampton, England, and would depart next Friday.

At her normal transatlantic speed, the Queen Mary would probably reach Boston before the middle of next week.

N. E. Job Outlook Bright

Regional War Manpower Commission Director Arthur C. Gernes estimated from 150,000 to 200,000 New England war workers would be laid off by cancellation of war contracts immediately after V-J Day but predicted they would be absorbed at once into stepped-up civilian production.

Gernes estimated that the largest number of workers would be laid off by the ordnance, shipbuilding, electrical equipment, aircraft, chemical and rubber concerns now engaged in filling war contracts.

One indication of the trend came last week in the Navy's order for halting work on seven heavy cruisers contracted for at the Fore River yard of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp.

Work has been started on four of the seven cruisers but keels of the others had not been laid when the stop order came.

Gen. Mgr. W. H. Collins said the immediate effect of the order would be "relatively minor, except in the structural trades," for the next month or two and added that yard and government officials already were conferring on plans for retaining or providing jobs in other industry for affected workers.

Thousands of workers will be needed in peacetime industry in New England, according to Gernes.

Numerous jobs even now are available, he said, in the textile industry and in lumber, paper, food, apparel and jewelry industry plants.

Gernes estimated that approximately 800,000 now are employed in New England war industries with cutbacks expected to reduce this figure by one-half.

He explained, however, that many of these workers would not be displaced since cancellations would release much material for civilian production and that many plants would transfer employes to peacetime jobs within their own factories.

Some plants already have a large backlog of civilian production orders

OPA Halts Printing of Ration Books

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The OPA has halted printing of 187,000,000 new ration books for food, shoes and gasoline, it was learned today.

The stop order covers war ration book No. 5 for meats, fats, dairy products, canned foods and sugar and a new "A" gasoline book. Both had been scheduled for distribution in December.

The order halts work on the books pending outcome of peace negotiations. If Japan quits, the stop order will become permanent.

The action was taken, it was explained, because there are sufficient stamps in books now in use to carry through to about the first of the year. In the case of gasoline, rationing is expected to end within a week or two after V-J day. The other programs are expected to continue longer.

An OPA spokesman said of 150,000,000 planned, only "a very few copies" of ration book No. 5 have been printed.

Actual printing of 37,000,000 gasoline books has not begun, but designs and engravings were completed.

Both books had been set up to last 10 to 15 months. When plans for distribution of the books were announced late in July, OPA said "it looks as if (they) will be needed at least throughout most of next year."

State Bonus Application Blanks Ready Thursday

State Treasurer John E. Hurley announced today that 100,000 application blanks on which honorably discharged World War II veterans may claim their $100 State bonus would be available by Thursday morning.

Blanks will be obtainable at 15 Ashburton pl., Beacon Hill, and in all local veteran centers, veteran posts and Red Cross offices throughout the state. Representatives of the bonus division also will visit various hospitals with blanks for "shut-in" veterans.

The treasurer announced that blanks would be mailed to some 8000 veterans who had applied previously by mail or in person, and that there would be no need for them to make further application at any of the centers listed.

Separate blanks are being prepared for those claiming payment of the bonus for deceased veterans. Next of kin of the dead veterans would be eligible to fill out such applications, Hurley said.

He stressed the need for presentation of original discharge papers in filing all applications, pointing out that photostatic copies would not be acceptable.

It's Atomic

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)

There's a new word in the laudatory lexicon of movie press agents. Anything stupendous or terrific is now publicized as "atomic."

Shortly after Uncle Sam's sensational new explosive was disclosed last week, an ad smashed out with: "Atomic bomb! Incendiary blonde! Betty Hutton!" A comedy was trumpeted as being so funny it was atomic; presumably people split their sides laughing at it!

Truman Calls in 6 Aides To Map Reconversion

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—With the end of the war in sight, President Truman canvassed postwar labor and wage stabilization problems today with six top advisers.

Meeting with Mr. Truman were Labor Sec. Schwellenbach, War Mobilizer Snyder, Economic Stabilizeer Davis, Price Admr. Bowles, WLB Chairman Taylor and Former Director Steelman of the Conciliation Service, now adviser to Schwellenbach.

A White House statement said the six submitted reports on labor disputes and wage stabilization in the postwar period and that the chief executive "has reports under study."

The signal, due when Japan quits, also will serve to unveil programs for putting millions of released war workers in peacetime jobs as rapidly as possible and for gradual lifting of rationing and other wartime restrictions.

Expected quickly, too, are plans that may provide for easing of stringent wage controls and outline the scope of price controls in the immediate postwar period.

This is the homefront outlook as the war appears to be nearing the end:

Rationing—Elimination of gasoline, fuel oil and tire programs within a few days to six weeks after V-J Day; gasoline may be released within a week. Shoe rationing is due to go in two or three months. Food, especially meat and sugar, will stay under controls for some time because of continuing military requirements.

Consumer Goods—Volume production before the end of this year, particularly of small items such as toasters, irons and other home appliances. At least 500,000 passenger cars, double the number planned originally, are expected. Refrigerators and washing machines also are likely to be in good supply late this year.

Price and Rent Controls—Due to be retained for at least six months, possibly a year on a limited scale.

Manpower—Government officials estimate at least 5,000,000 war workers will lose their jobs within six months after V-J Day. They make no prediction how long it will be before these workers can be absorbed in civilian production.

Travel—Troop demobilization is expected to prevent lifting of restrictions for at least 60 days.

All agencies with a part in reconversion have been told by the White House to say nothing about their plans until President Truman gives the word.

Jobless Pay Bill Hearings Set

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (INS)—Sen. Walter F. George (D.) of Georgia, chairman of the Senate finance committee, today summoned the committee to meet Wednesday, Aug. 29, to consider a bill to assure unemployed war workers maximum benefits of $25 a week.

The Georgia Senator said government officials and Senators will probably be first hearing witnesses.

The bill, designed to supplement the unemployment compensation system of states which have built up reserves of several billion dollars during the war period, would permit a state to enter an agreement with the federal government for payment of benefits for 26 weeks which do not exceed $25 a week and do not exceed two-thirds of the individual's previous weekly earnings, with the federal government making up the difference if the state law does not provide that much for the unemployed.

Loses Stolen Money At Races—Six Months

In spite of a plea that he would make restitution, Francis Kyle of Tremont st., South End, a bartender at the Boston City Club, was given a six months' house of correction sentence today in municipal court after being found guilty of larceny of $350.

The money, receipts at the club, was lost at the horse races, according to the defendant. "You blew it," Judge Elijah Adlow commented. "Take six months."

WAR FUND DRIVE OCT. 9

NEW YORK (AP)—A national goal of $115,000,000 will be sought by the National War Fund in its campaign opening Oct. 9, Chairman Winthrop Aldrich said.

EXPECTANT MOTHER—Next March will probably be baby month for songstress Deanna Durbin, she has announced. The 23-year-old actress was married to film producer Felix Jackson last June after five years of marriage to Vaughn Paul ended in divorce in December, 1943.

Fined in Peace Celebration

Too enthusiastic celebration of the false radio flash on Japanese surrender cost Walter Josephovitz of Spencer ave., Chelsea, $55 in fines today in Chelsea district court.

He was fined $15 on a charge of drunkenness and $40 for discharging a firearm after he pleaded not guilty before Judge John W. McLeod, who dismissed an additional charge of having a revolver in his possession illegally.

Josephovitz pleaded not guilty to all charges but paid promptly when police testified they were called to stop a one-man victory parade in front of his home.

Celebrities Christen 1946 Ford Today

EDGEWATER, N. J., Aug. 3 (INS)—Two celebrities—one of the air and the other of the screen—will participate today in ceremonies marking the first 1946-model civilian passenger automobile to roll from an eastern assembly line.

As planned, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker will drive the car from the Edgewater plant of the Ford Motor Co. Svelte Carol Landis will ride beside him.

Soldier's Wife, Jailed As Slayer, Hangs Self

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Blanche Devers, 22-year-old wife of a soldier, hanged herself with a bathtowel in the county jail where she was being held on a charge of murdering a Denver man, Deputy Coroner William O'Brien reported.

SEPARATED—Film actress Ella Raines and her husband, Maj. Kenneth Trout, just released from the Army Air Forces, have separated, her studio has announced.

HELD IN KILLING—Mrs. Agnes Monahon (on ground) and Mrs. Francesca Furst, her daughter, both of New York, leave a police van after they had been taken into custody in connection with the death of Frank Remoli, who died from a fall down the tenement stairs of the building in which they live in midtown Manhattan.

Asia GIs Look for Home Soon

KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 13 (AP)—Details for movement home of American soldiers in the India-Burma theater will be published "a day or so after surrender is signed," the Southeast Asia Command announced today.

"Men who have been overseas the longest and who are no longer needed to help liquidate American activities in this part of the world will probably get the breaks as they should," the announcement said. "Some of them should be home for Christmas, perhaps for Thanksgiving, if peace comes now."

YD Due to Come Home in October

New England's famed 26th Division, with more than 2500 enlisted men from this area, is slated to return from Europe in October, according to War Department schedules disclosed today.

Now on occupation duty at Husinetz in Czechoslovakia, the Yankee Division is commanded by Maj. Gen Willard S. Paul, a native of Shrewsbury.

In addition to the large number of New Englanders among the enlisted men, the YD has 197 officers from this section.

Arriving this morning with men from the European theater of operation, the S. S. Angus McDonald docked at Castle Island.

Only New Englander aboard was Capt. Gordon P. Wallace of 58 Reed st., Agawam. Later today the S. S. William D. Pender, bearing 64 New England veterans, is scheduled to dock at the Army Base.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK BUCK
Marital Man-Trap Snares Their Host

Frank Buck Witness In 'Man-Trap' Snare

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Conqueror of jungles and wild animals, Frank (Bring 'Em Back Alive) Buck today found himself snared as a probable witness because of a marital man-trapping raid staged in serene and bucolic Mt. Rose, N. J., a community near Princeton.

The raid resulted in the arrest of Buck's host, Henry W. Nelson, wealthy railroad engineer, and Mrs. Bobby Spafford, widow of the former American Legion national commander, on morals charges.

With Mrs. Nelson on the raid was her daughter, Jane, 27.

The upshot was that Nelson and Mrs. Spafford, who lives at Hotel Pierre, were hauled by State Troopers before Justice of the Peace J. L. Lawrence and held in $500 bail each for hearing in Trenton court.

Here's Mrs. Nelson's story, as told in court:

"I knew he'd been meeting with her at the farm, so I called the detectives in Trenton.

"We waited around for three hours until the lights went out. Then I walked around to the front of the house. I had a key. Jane was right behind me. The detectives were 100 feet away waiting for my signal.

"We tiptoed to the master bedroom. I knew my husband would be there. I didn't expect to find that woman in there. I turned the doorknob slowly, reached in and flicked the switch.

"There they were, both in bed."

Jane awakened the Bucks. Mrs. Nelson entered the room, saw the Bucks and said she told Frank:

"Bring her (Mrs. Spafford) back alive!"

She quoted Buck as replying:

"This is a hell of a mess. I've got nothing to do with it. I've no connection with this couple."

In a wild melee that followed, Mrs. Nelson said, her 59-year-old husband tore her fingernail and scratched Jane's arm. He was quieted by the detectives.

3 Gunmen Hold Up South End Loan Shop

Forcing the manager into the cellar, three colored holdup men today seized $130 in cash and jewelry from Uncle Ned's Loan Shop in Northampton st., South End.

Morris Ostek of Waban st., Roxbury, told police one of the three pointed a gun at him and ordered him into the basement. He said they locked the door after him and rifled a safe and cash box.

Where?

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13 (AP)—A young man who tried to commit suicide appeared before Municipal Judge J. B. Seabrook.

"You won't try it again?" asked the judge. "No," the youth promised.

"Then I'm giving you a 60-day suspended sentence," said the judge, "but you'd better not break your word or you'll serve it out."

Judge Cracks Down on 3 Tars

Now that the war seems nearly over, servicemen can expect no extenuating treatment for their offenses in the court of Municipal Judge Elijah Adlow.

This he warned today when he declined to turn over to the Shore Patrol three Navy men charged with using an automobile without authority, until he had first found them guilty and meted out suspended six-month sentences to the house of correction.

"It's time you fellows stop playing under the supposition you'll get off easier than civilians," Judge Adlow warned the trio, John Parkman of Augusta, Ga., Harold Johnson of Springfield and Laurence Jordan of Guilford, Me.

Mickey Devine Sued By Private Detective

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (INS)—Robert La Bonde, private detective, filed suit today against Mickey Devine, former showgirl and ex-wife of Horace E. Dodge, for failure to pay $5500 for services.

La Borde charged the former wife of the Dodge heir retained him to trail her multi-millionaire husband. When they were divorced Dodge settled $1,000,000 on the one-time showgirl and La Borde claims she gave him only $1000 retainer and failed to pay the $5500.

POLICE CANCEL MEETING

The regular meeting of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Ass'n, which was to take place Wednesday in New Bedford, has been canceled, Secretary John J. Avery, chief of Quincy police, announced today. The step was taken in anticipation of victory celebrations of V-J Day.

Dying Wife Pleads Vainly That Army Send GI Home

Victim of an incurable disease, Mrs. Helen Spates, 23, of Mayfair rd., Peabody, lies near death at the J. B. Thomas Hospital in Peabody today, waiting vainly for the War Department to act on her dying request that she be allowed to see her soldier-husband.

For two months now, her family, her physician, Dr. John Bradley of Peabody, and the Red Cross have been sending pleading letters to Washington asking that her last wish be granted—that S-Sgt. Clifford Spates, now stationed in Germany with the 102d Field Artillery, Yankee Division, be sent home.

These pleas have gotten but little action. On the dying wife's bedside table are two letters. One is from the War Department in answer to her mother's touching appeal for her daughter. It asks if Mrs. Spates' condition is "the only reason" for seeking Sgt. Spates' release.

The other is the latest letter from her husband. Dated July 25, it reports that his papers and a history of her case had been forwarded from Washington to his commanding officer in Germany early in July, but that no action had been taken. Sgt. Spates wrote that he did not know what to do or where to turn.

Mrs. Spates, who now weighs only 72 pounds, was a healthy, war-working wife, when her husband entered the service with the National Guard 4½ years ago, shortly before Pearl Harbor. In 18 months overseas, during which he took part in two major battles, Sgt. Spates has accumulated 81 points toward the 85 necessary for discharge.

Except for another misfortune, Sgt. Spates as a father would have enough points. His wife lost her baby in childbirth shortly after he entered the service.

An attractive brunette before she was stricken ill, Mrs. Spates is suffering from enlargement of the heart and all hope for her recovery has been abandoned.

The young wife was an employe of the Sylvania Electric Products Co. in Salem. At a hearing last December before the State Industrial Accident Board, Dr. Bradley testified her job was responsible for her condition.

3 Held for Jury In Hub Holdups As Girl Talks

Three men were held for the grand jury in bail of $10,000 each today and an attractive young Charlestown mother, wife of a serviceman, was released to appear later as a material witness after the men pleaded not guilty to robbery charges, in municipal court.

Allegedly members of a five-man holdup gang that used the Charlestown woman's apartment as headquarters for dividing loot, Joseph G. Burkhardt, 21, of Fremont st., Roxbury and Robert Kennedy, 29, of Dresden st., Jamaica Plain, pleaded not guilty to armed robbery and conspiracy to rob.

Gregory Golishian, 23, of Foster st., Brighton, pleaded not guilty to the conspiracy charge in connection with the same holdup.

Mrs. Jeanne Daley, 22, of Carney Court, Charlestown, the housing project, was released on her personal recognizance after Judge Elijah Adlow satisfied himself she knew the men and had heard them discuss division of money.

Testifying against the men was Saul Soboff of the Soboff & Glickson Upholstery Co., North Washington st., where the gang allegedly staged a $3000 holdup.

Soboff identified Golishian as a former employe who had been discharged after working only 10 days. He added he had seen Golishian loitering in the vicinity after he was fired. Soboff said also he had seen Kennedy in the neighborhood shortly before the holdup.

"But the leader of the gang, the man who made us get down on our knees during the holdup, is not in court," he told Judge Adlow.

Police said they were searching for a State Prison parolee and a Concord parolee who had taken part in the holdup.

Sgt. Charles Berkebile of the Warren ave. station testified Burkhardt told him he received only $481 as his share of the holdup, whereas the others divided equally. Berkebile added Burkhardt explained this was because "two men had to be paid off for tipping the holdup."

Swiss Paper Protests Use of A-Bomb

BERN, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Zurich newspaper Die Tat today criticized use of the atom bomb by the United States and urged the Swiss government to protest use of the weapon.

"There is no difference," said Die Tat editorially, "between the National Socialists who spread their atrocities over Europe and the Americans who use the atom bomb: Both use extremist measures and methods to annihilate enemies."

Nazi Bigwig PWs Put in Bare Cells

NUERNBERG, Aug. 13 (AP)—Sitting morosely in bare cells of Nuernberg's jail today, German leaders who once strutted in the stadium of this Nazi shrine city awaited trial as war criminals.

Battery B of the U. S. 391st Anti-Aircraft Artillery, which had been guarding Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Robert Ley and other Nazis at a Luxembourg hotel, completed the transfer to this city yesterday. The prisoners will go to trial next month.

While awaiting trial each prisoner will occupy a small cell furnished with a cot, table, stool and a cup. Each is permitted a wooden spoon as his sole eating utensil.

BOMB BLAST INJURES 5

BELEN, N. M., Aug. 13 (AP)—Five persons were reported in serious condition today following explosion at a ranch of what was believed to have been an Army practice bomb found in a pasture by children.

4 in Suffolk Race Track Riot Held for Trial

Three of four men arrested as a result of Saturday's wild riot which ended the Suffolk Downs race meeting were ordered held in $50 each today in East Boston district court and their cases were continued by Judge Charles Brown for one week.

Judge Brown also issued warrants against Wilbur Cowan, 34, of Colony rd., West Springfield, to be served on him at City Hospital where he is still under treatment for concussion of the brain and other injuries suffered when he was beaten by police after invading the stewards' stand at the track to protest disqualification of the seventh race winner.

Orlando Del Russo

Cowan was charged in the warrants with trespassing, inciting to riot and assault and battery on two police officers.

Charges of inciting to riot were lodged against the trio in court today. They were Arthur Pages, 31, Shawmut ave., South End; Orlando DelRusso, 44, Falcon st., East Boston, and Walter Sauer, 18, Harvard st., Cambridge.

Pages and DelRusso also were charged with malicious destruction of property while charges of disturbing the peace were lodged against DelRusso and Sauer.

Sauer's mother, who was present in the courtroom, collapsed when Judge Brown ordered him held in $500. He originally had been held in $100. Judge Brown ordered court recessed while she was assisted from the room and taken to an anteroom for treatment.

Police said Patrolmen Salvatore J. Ingino and John M. McDonnell still were under treatment at home for injuries suffered in the barrage of bottles, rubbish and other missiles hurled by the irate mob at the stewards' stand in protest against the beating of Cowan when he resisted arrest.

Cowan, a war worker at the East Longmeadow plant of the United Aircraft Corp., makes his home in a war housing development in West Springfield.

Ike Sees Stalin Friend of U. S.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Aug. 3 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower told a press conference today that Generalissimo Stalin had said things during their social meeting here which convinced him Russia's paramount desire was to be friends with the United States and her people.

He said he was unable to disclose details of the meeting, but he was visibly impressed.

Eisenhower declared he had not halted his troops at the Elbe or anywhere else last spring because the Red army or Stalin requested it.

The American general said American troops stopped at the Elbe, short of Berlin, was because he wanted to break up Hitler's redoubt in the south as fast as possible.

His orders to the commanders were to halt at the Elbe at certain places and turn southward at others with all speed possible.

Eisenhower said Stalin had asked him nothing about the atomic bomb, but disclosed that he and Marshal Georgi Zhukov had talked about it in a general way.

Eisenhower won immediate Russian confidence for he had been told details of such things as the Stalin tank and the Red Army's methods of handling supply and communications problems.

On their way to Moscow, Zhukov and Eisenhower exchanged ideas on strategy and tactics, and each went into detail on how he won his part of the war. Zhukov drew sketches of his main operations, explaining each in detail. Eisenhower told the Russian how he managed his great breakthrough across Germany, which the Russians have never ceased to marvel at.

The general spent the morning visiting a collective factory, the Moscow subway and other points of interest. Yesterday he and Generalissimo Stalin reviewed a parade and demonstration by 40,000 athletes from the Soviet Union's 16 republics.

The American general stood with the Russian leader on a platform atop Lenin's tomb in Red Square—the first foreigner ever accorded such an honor.

BRITAIN HONORS NIMITZ

ABOARD H. M. S. DUKE OF YORK, Aug. 10 (delayed) (AP)—Great Britain today conferred one of its highest honors on American Fleet Adm. Nimitz in a colorful ceremony at which he received the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath in recognition of his naval leadership in the Pacific.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT AIR CONDITIONED

SOLD $8.95—HOLE AND ALL...

Would you buy a dress with a hole as big as a dime and pay $8.95 for it? That's what Mrs. — did the other day and hole and all she figured she got an unusual bargain. While Filene's Basement sells seconds, we make it a point to be sure they are seconds that are dependable and wearable—anything with a bad damage or conspicuous hole we discard. Sometimes we make a mistake — when you place thousands of dresses on sale daily, occasionally we err—this dress should not have gone on sale. When our Supervisor saw the hole she suggested that there may be another dress like it in the stockroom—but there wasn't—this was a sample dress. It was from a famous make Junior designer—a red and white geometric print of excellent quality rayon crepe. When the customer heard there were no duplicates—she liked the dress so well she decided to buy it. "It's only $8.95 and I can still spend a couple of dollars and have the hole repaired and it's worth it—or maybe I can take a pleat in it and cover the hole"—said the value-wise shopper. It was a very high-style dress and the first quality price would have been dollars more—and apparently the customer knew it was out of the ordinary to purchase it under the circumstances. She took it "as is." She purchased three others at the same time at a total cost of $28.96. Pretty evident proof Filene Basement dresses and Filene Basement bargains satisfy her! What do you think?

"Easy now, Dear . . . we're just working up a ventriloquist gag for the annual outing!"

Coal Delivery Limits Raised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Restrictions limiting dealer deliveries of anthracite and coke before Sept. 1 to 50 per cent of consumers' annual needs will be lifted Aug. 15.

Announcing this today, the Solid Fuels Administration said the action will permit householders and industrial plants to obtain their full wartime quotas—80 per cent of normal needs.

The restriction is being relaxed, SFA said, to permit maximum utilization of delivery facilities. The agency added, however, that in some areas dealers may not have sufficient fuel to ease delivery restrictions. In such cases the control will be retained.

Jews in Germany Still Go Hungry, Ineligible for Aid

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—Germany's Jews are finding difficulty in obtaining adequate food and jobs, even though the Allies have come into control.

There were about 850,000 Jews in Germany in 1934, according to Hitler's definition. Of these only from 12,000 to 14,000 are left in Germany, including 6000 or 8000 in Berlin.

The Berlin city administration created a movement for aiding "victims of Fascism" and instituted collections on their behalf. But, through these Jews have been undernourished for years and have been tortured with fear for their lives, they do not qualify as "victi msof Fascism" because they have not actually carried on propaganda against Nazism.

The Allied proclamation of equal rights for Jews and Gentiles temporarily increases the tragedy of the Jews, strange as it may seem. As racial differences are not recognized, German Jews are treated as Germans, not as displaced persons which they really are.

Displaced persons are able to obtain somewhat better rations than Germans.

Aid to Displaced Splits UNRRA

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—American, British and Russian representatives failed to agree today at a closed session of the third UNRRA conference on the question of giving international relief to displaced persons unwilling or unable to return home.

Delegates said two and a half hours of heated argument failed to bring a solution, but they expressed belief a compromise could be reached.

Poland and Yugoslavia were reported backing the Russian stand to block any aid to such persons, but it was understood the Poles had submitted a resolution which might be acceptable to both sides.

Will Clayton, assistant Secretary of State, was said to have urged temporary aid for displaced persons pending telling the Russians UNRRA should not adopt any policy which would be construed in the United States as discrimination on account of political beliefs.

Roxbury Man Sent To Prison for Break

Charged with breaking into a Warren st., Roxbury, optician store, Louis H Patten, 34, of Oakburn ave., Roxbury, pleaded guilty in Suffolk Superior Court today and was sentenced to State Prison for 5 to 7 years.

Special Officer Clark Adair told Judge Vincent Brogna he overpowered Patten in the store when he pulled a knife and struggled against arrest. Judge Brogna filed an additional charge of possessing a dirk.

Col. Roosevelt Placed On Inactive Status

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13 (AP)—Col. James Roosevelt of the Marine Corps has been released to inactive status by order of Navy doctors, who said that fatigue had aggravated a recurring stomach disorder, necessitating a complete rest.

The 38-year-old son of the late President was admitted to the Naval hospital in San Diego several weeks ago for rest and diagnosis. He is now on terminal leave at his Beverly Hills home.

Pilot Vanishes On Train to Hub

Military police in all cities between Boston and Chicago where express trains stop were trying today to solve the mysterious disappearance of 2-Lt. Arthur J. Tibbets, 23-year-old AAF pilot, of Liberty, Me., who vanished after placing his baggage aboard a Boston-bound train in Chicago.

Tibbets was en route here from the Marana, Ariz., Army Air Base. His wife, Susan, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Stephen H. Cooper, of Butler rd., Quincy, said this morning she was convinced he had suffered a lapse of memory.

She claimed his effects at the South Station after he failed to appear among the travelers leaving the Chicago train. Mrs. Tibbets was in conference with MP officers here yesterday, describing her husband as five feet 11 inches in height, weighing 185 pounds and having sandy hair, light eyebrows and ruddy complexion.

Private Plane Crash Kills Officer, Girl

BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 13 (AP)—A private plane crashed at Bennington Airport today killing two passengesr, an Army Air Force lieutenant and a Bennington girl.

The dead were identified as Betty Everett, daughter of Mrs. Edward H. Everett of Old Bennington, and Lt. Robert Lancaster of Washington, D. C.

Passenger Dies Motorman Held

Paul D. MacPhail, 30, of Palmer st., Arlington, an Elevated motorman, was held in $1000 bail on a manslaughter charge in East Boston district court today—aftermath of the death of a passenger who disputed the worth of a transfer. The case was continued until Aug. 22.

The passenger, unidentified, died at City Hospital of injuries suffered in a fall to the pavement from a Revere-bound trolley in Bennington st., East Boston. He was described as about 55 and as an Italian-American, speaking broken English.

Police quoted MacPhail as saying the man became enraged in an argument over the value of the transfer and made a lunge at the motorman.

FRENCH TAKE OVER ZONE

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—French troops took over the occupation zone in Berlin today at formal flag raising ceremonies in the borough of Wedding.

Sewerage Plant To Clear Harbor

Speedy construction of a $4,450,000 plant at Nut island in Quincy bay will remove all sewage pollution from the harbor, accordingto Karl R. Kennison, chief engineer of the Metropolitan District Water Commission, who today addressed a hearing of the Public Health Council at the State House.

The project, authorized by the last Legislature, will take three years to build. Final approval is to come from the Public Health Council and Public Health Commissioner Vlado A. Getting.

'Old Blood, Guts' Kisses Corporal!

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—The general with the varnished helmet and the starched backbone kissed the corporal's hand.

It happened so quickly that probably few of the 10,000 GIs saw it. One moment Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was shaking hands with Corp. Brady Walker, and then "Old Blood and Guts" bent over and graciously bestowed the totally unexpected kiss.

Walker was captain of Patton's winning Third Army team in the ETO track and field championships.

FOOD POISONS 175 NAZI PWS

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., Aug. 13 (AP)—One hundred seventy-five German prisoners of war housed at Camp Pine were stricken with food poisoning after last night's evening meal, the Army announced.

Hiram Johnson Last Rites Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Californians paid their last respects today to Hiram W. Johnson, the State's late senior United States Senator.

A train bearing his body arrived this morning at Oakland. Aboard were Mrs. Johnson, Lt. Col. Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., 18 Senators and 18 Representatives. An automobile procession led by highway patrolmen proceeded to San Francisco, where services were conducted by three faiths.

The body laid in state in the rotunda of the city hall for memorial services at 2 p. m. The rites included an eulogy by Sen. Sheridan Downey and addresses by Gov. Warren and Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco.

The Rt. Rev. Karl M. Block, Episcopal bishop of California, delivered the invocation. A prayer was said by Rabbi Elliott M. Burstein of Congregation Beth Israel and the benediction was pronounced by the Rt. Rev. Charles A. Ramm, pastor of St. Mary's Cathedral.

Italians Seize French Art Goering Traded

ROME, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Italian news agency ANSA said today Florence authorities had seized a collection of French paintings worth about $1,000,000 which former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering was said to have given a Florence collector in exchange for works of Italian renaissance masters.

The seized works included paintings by Cezanne, Renoir, Manet and other famous artists, Ansa said.

A BLENDING TRIUMPH! It's light . . . smooth as silk . . . palatable—yet it's so rich with flavor, so delicious in taste! It makes an Old Fashioned that's creamy, velvety—a truly remarkable drink, thanks to a truly remarkable whiskey!

WANTED!... BY FLEISCHMANN

Good Judges of Good Whiskey to try a Fine Old Brand!

Wouldn't you like to serve a whiskey that has the full, ripe richness of the world's finest, most limited brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

FOR AN "OLD FASHIONED" that tastes like cream—to ¾ level teaspoon of granulated sugar, add 2 or 3 dashes of bitters in an Old Fashioned glass, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar. Muddle! Add ice cubes, 1½ oz. of FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED. Garnish with cherry, twisted lemon peel, or orange and pineapple!

THIS invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey . . . who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.

The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskies. Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts for some time to come, because our facilities have been devoted to the war effort . . . but if your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!

THE WORLD'S GREATEST "MANHATTAN"? We say so! Just take 1 dash of Angostura Bitters, ¾ oz. sweet vermouth, and 1½ oz. of FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED! Stir with ice, strain into 4-ounce glass, add one Maraschino cherry! That's all!

FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED BLENDED WHISKEY

The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old; 35% straight whiskies, 65% neutral spirits distilled from grain. 90 Proof.

The Fleischmann Distilling Corporation Peekskill, N.Y.

AND IT'S 90 PROOF, TOO!

Warm Weather Crops Now Nearing Production Peak

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Daily Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Garden on the Counter.

Following a slow start, due to cool nights, warm weather crops are now beginning to show good growth, but they are not yet at their production peak.

Every year we have periods when certain crops are plentiful and the market is at a low point as regards to price. This is the period that home-makers should watch for, if they plan to buy extra products for canning. There are two advantages in doing this:

1—The consumer saves money and

2—It helps to prevent a glut on the market. It seems advisable to suggest that home canners take advantage of these conditions and can as much as they need.

Right now the market price of beans is at its low point and it is an excellent time to put up some good quality native-grown beans. Be sure to buy beans that are fresh and have not become overgrown. Beans for canning should not have the seed showing through the pod.

Another crop is now ready for harvest in some gardens. This crop, known as shell beans, must be used at the proper time to get the most value and eating pleasure. Start using these beans as soon as the pods begin to show a red color and the seed has developed. This crop will go by fast during hot weather and must be used before the beans become old and strong in flavor. If you have extra shell beans, I would suggest canning them as they give you another fine vegetable for winter use.

Late corn may be slow in starting. If it is light in color and the leaves small, it indicates lack of plant food. Side-dress the crop with complete fertilizer and cultivate it in.

What they said in a New England TOWN MEETING about the Telephone Company

WE HELD a sort of town meeting (mail questionnaires) of applicants for telephone service, and called for a showing of hands on how they felt on various questions affecting their telephone welfare.

☛ Practically all understood why the war had caused a shortage in telephone facilities, and the big majority of them placed the blame for their lack of service exactly where it belongs... on the unavoidable circumstances of war.

☛ More than two-thirds said the Company was doing all it could for them, and that the people in our business offices showed real concern about their cases. More than 70% agreed they should be waiting their turns for service.

OF COURSE we are grateful to the majority for their good opinion, but we also respect the views of the minority who think otherwise.

☛ About 15% thought they should have had telephones at once and 12% felt we could do more for them than we had. Then, 13% thought others got telephones ahead of turn, and 20% said our business office people were only "half-interested in them."

These critical friends may be in the minority, but they're really the ones we want to talk to. We earnestly wish any of our disappointed friends would pay another call on the Service Representatives at our business offices, because we believe that "speaking right out in open meeting" in true New England custom helps to remove misunderstandings and feelings of injustice. We'd like another chance to demonstrate that our representatives are "fully interested" in their cases, and that we are doing everything possible to provide them with service.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

From Haverhill comes the following appeal to the Veterans' Friend Editor:

"You have helped so many parents in obtaining information and help through your column, I am now seeking your help. I am trying to find someone that was saved when the S.S. Robin Goodfellow was torpedoed July 25, 1944. My son was a cook aboard that ship and all we have ever heard is that he is missing.

"If I could only find someone that was on that ship possibly he could tell me what happened to my boy. There is no doubt that I would feel much better and could sleep. If you could find through your widely read column, a member of that crew who would contact me, I would be ever so grateful. His name Ernest N. Mears. Thank you.

(Signed) Mrs. Ernest A. Mears,
Crescent Lake Ave.,
Haverhill, Mass.

A—If any reader, or a member of that crew, might have information that would help Mrs. Mears, such would be transmitted through this column or by writing her directly.

Q—Would you please tell me where can I obtain the address of a friend, in the Navy, stationed in this country? H. K., Chelsea.

A—Sorry, but such information is only available to immediate members of the serviceman's family.

Q—My son enlisted in the V-5 Naval Air Corps in July, 1944. He was assigned to Harvard where he remained for one year and then transferred to pre-flight school at Chapel Hill. He is still there. Will he be entitled to mustering-out pay and GI Bill benefits when discharged? N. M., Tewksbury.

A—If discharged while still a cadet, not entitled to mustering-out pay or G. I. Bill benefits. It would be necessary for him to have active duty service.

Q—Any information on 14th Armored Division? O. T. P., Newport.

A—Scheduled for return in September.

Q—Please inform me where I should apply for the $100 bonus, under the bill recently passed by the state legislature. D. M. V.

A—Offices of the State Treasurer in charge of disbursement of bonus payments have been set up in Ford Hall building, Ashburton pl., Boston. This building is located in the rear of the State House.

Drawn by Swan—Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Wonderful store you're got. I once lost my wife for three days here!"

Q—I had a son killed in action and my only other child, a boy, has just turned 18 and expects to be drafted shortly. Where he is my only son would he be kept here in this country? Mrs. D. B., Westbrook, Me.

A—It is just a few days too early to answer your question. No doubt if he is inducted, chances are slim that he would leave the country for any occupation duties. Personally I might say not to worry.

Q—My son has been in the Navy for 20 months, overseas for the past 15 months. In the meantime his wife has had a baby by another man. Is it possible to stop her allotment? C. E., Dorchester.

A—Suggest you write son and have him talk matter over with his personnel officer or chaplain. As long as she is his legal wife she is entitled to allotment, but not for baby.

Tattooed Marks Clues to Lynn Slaying Victim

Tattoo marks on the arms of the murder victim whose body, with a bullet hole in the back, was found Saturday on the Lynn sand flats, pointed today to the possibility that the victim may have been a sailor veteran of World War I.

Through the two tattooed names, "Bob" and "Isabel," a laundry mark and the victim's fingerprints, State and Lynn detectives were still hopeful of establishing the identity of the victim, after several well-known North Shore racketeers had viewed the body but failed to identify it.

It was the type of tattooing that led investigators to the theory that the victim may have been a World War I veteran. Examination disclosed that the tattoo work was in dotted lines, the old style prevalent before the advent of electric needles.

The presumed age of the victim, more than 40, also leads back to the World War I period, the rest of the given description being 5 feet 8 inches tall, 180 pounds, brown hair, partly bald, snub nose and broad chest and shoulders.

Death Notes Again Sent Petain Jury

PARIS, Aug. 13 (AP)—Jurors hearing final defense pleas in the treason trial of Marshal Petain disclosed today nearly all 24 of them had again received letters threatening death to any who voted to condemn the aged soldier.

Some said they had received as many as 12 threatening letters.

Pierre Bloch, a parliamentary juror, said one letter he received ended with "Death to Jews," and that another said "Beware, I am sitting just a few feet from you in the courtroom."

White-haired Fernand Payen, chief defense attorney, opened the supreme attempt to save the 89-year-old head of the former Vichy government from a firing squad with these words:

"Petain is one of France's most glorious sons. It is very unlike our country to be trying such a man. Petain wears a crown of glory that you wish to take from him."

Payen read a testimonial written to Petain by Gen. John J. Pershing, AEF commander in the first World War, after the Germans were beaten a quarter century ago.

The lawyer traced the marshal's career and said:

"He has never shown anything but loyalty to the Republic during his long years of service."

Occupation Maps For Navy Ready

GUAM, Aug. 13 (AP)—Occupation maps, complete with anchorage charts with berths for specific vessels in all Japanese harbors, are being rushed by an Army Engineer Topographic Battalion here.

Lt. Col. M. C. Shelter, Clinton, Iowa, turned his battalion to making occupation maps after they already were well into a program for 3,000,000 invasion maps and had completed maps and bombardment charts for new strikes by Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet.

"At least we got our anchorage charts up to date, even to berths for specific vessels in all Japanese harbors," Shelter commented.

Week's Auto Deaths Include 4 Children

Reporting that four of last week's seven auto death victims in the state were children, Registrar Rudolph F. King today appealed to parents and motorists to safeguard the lives of youngsters. He said auto fatalities to date totaled 229 as compared with 261 on the corresponding date a year ago.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 13 (AP)—King Gustaf slipped and fell in a bath tub at his summer residence and slightly injured his side and one arm, the newspaper Svenska-Dagbladet said.

Kicked In

After viewing the right shoe of one of three men charged with attempted breaking and entering, Municipal Court Judge Elijah Adlow today held them all for the grand jury, setting bail for each at $10,000.

Police exhibited the shoe of Edward Portella of Main st., Melrose, charging it still bore paint that matched that from a door kicked in at a Charles st. tire shop. Held with Portella were Como Frizzi of Havre st. and Anthony Brasso of Falcon st., both of East Boston.

Buying A Bike

There is an immediate need for an interpreter here. A slight misunderstanding arose when a Russian soldier wanting to buy a bicycle from a Berlin resident put the money in her hand and started off with the bike. The woman thought the money was a gift and on realizing it was payment for the bike refused to give up her only means of transportation.

REVOLUTION BY INDIRECTION

IN THE NAME of Americanism, some politicians are proposing glamorous sounding, blue sky schemes, which analysis shows are inconsistent with the continuance of a free competitive society.

One such seemingly innocuous proposal is the Murray Full Employment Bill, which is designed to write into a statute the visionary ideas of Sir William H. Beveridge, author of "Full Employment In a Free Society" and his American imitator, Secretary Henry Agard Wallace.

After demonstrating the economic unsoundness of the underlying concept, the Guaranty Survey, published by the nation's largest trust company, unmasks the revolutionary implications of the seemingly genteel proposal.

"The conclusion," it says, "is inescapable that full employment cannot be guaranteed in a free society. Nothing short of a complete dictatorship would be in a position to undertake that responsibility.

"A democratic government charged with such a burden would find its powers unequal to its task and would inevitably toward authoritarianism.

"One of the outstanding British advocates of the general idea concedes that price control would probably be an inevitable consequence of a full-employment policy; that private as well as public investment would have to be regulated by governmental authority; that control over the location of industrial plants would be a central requirement; that 'organized mobility' of labor would have to be maintained; and that such civil liberties as the right to choose new public officials and alter public policies, freedom in the choice of occupations and in the management of personal incomes, and the right of labor to bargain collectively and to strike could not be exercised 'irresponsibly.'

"In the aggregate, these restrictions, together with others that would be found corollary to them, would leave very little of the 'free society' that most supporters of the plan profess themselves eager to preserve."

AS A MATTER OF FACT, the terms of the proposed "full employment" bill, if enacted, would leave only the outer hulk of the American system.

The inner spirit, consisting of a philosphy of self-help and personal responsibility, would be destroyed.

If the objective is to couple with a high level of employment a high standard of material well-being for the people, then this can only be achieved as it has been achieved in the past through a flourishing national economy.

Instead of seeking to diagnose the causes of maladjustments, it would close the people's eyes to the nature of the malady and would seek to force economic health through compensatory federal deficit spending.

This theory was tested and found wanting in the nineteen thirties.

Senator Murray's scheme for regimentation would destroy liberty without providing the offsetting good results which he holds out.

WIFE'S PLACE

THE Georgia Supreme Court is enforcing an edict that a wife must follow her husband even if he decides to move into a cabin.

Announcing its decision, the court said:

"In this State a husband is the head of the family and as such has the right to fix the matrimonial residence without the consent of his wife, and the wife is bound to follow her husband when he changes his residence with a good reason therefor."

That may be true, but the man who respects his wife and values her love will still consult her before he shifts the family abode.

Successful matrimony is a partnership in which the views of BOTH parties prevail.

Laws that decree otherwise are not beneficial, and in many instances they can be extremely harmful.

You are this, sweet wife,
Intoxicating eyes,
Doelike, teasing,
Thrilling my heart—my very being
So no one else is in my seeing.

Waiting for your beloved's returning;
Ever comforting,
Pleasedly reassuring.
You are this, oh, heavenly wife,
The one and only love of my life.

SAID H. H. MUNRO: "Confront a child, a puppy and a kitten with sudden danger; the child will turn instinctively for assistance, the puppy will grovel in abject submission, the kitten will brace its tiny body for frantic resistance." A subscriber, evidently a cat enthusiast, sent me this quotation with the comment: "Score one for the cats." I won't on my score card. I had a three-month-old combination chow and German shepherd puppy which always stood his ground, growled and showed his teeth when sensing danger. Also my present dog, a springer spaniel, never grovelled in his life.

NOT ELIGIBLE: One Romo Vincent has sent me a membership card in the Fat Boys' Club of Broadway. I have returned same by special delivery mail. I am six feet two inches tall and weigh 191 pounds. So am not eligible for this club. Of course, I am going to deny I have a large head. The kids at school used to burn me up calling me "blubberhead." But I am, nevertheless, not the type for this Broadway organization. I hardly ever go up to Broadway, anyhow. I like Lexington ave., better.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Gladys George, the actress, has a pet cat she takes on tour with her. "Cats are less trouble than dogs" says Gladys. Maybe this explains why so many women like cats. Perhaps a dog is more trouble but, of course, he is worth it . . . States the employment manager of a large retail organization: *"All things being equal I always hire the blonde or red-haired applicant. Griffith's "Intolerance." She is now an expert on etiquette, charm, etc. Also is the author of the pamphlet "How a woman can always get a seat on a bus, streetcar or subway train." Miss Wilson says if a woman casts her eyes on a seated male and concentrates on the thought that he is a gentleman and will give her a seat the man will never fail to rise. Sounds all right but it may be necessary in order to make it work to have big brown eyes like Margery has.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Did you know men in the armed services are now more interested in pin-up pictures of glamorous WACS and WAVES than those of cinema cuties and night club sirens? A—That's news to me. But how about the Spars and lady leathernecks? There seems to be considerable pin-up material in those branches of the uniformed women's service, too. Q—The corporal, a Bowling Green, Ky., boy, says the Churchill Downs race track once paid off mutuel tickets to the penny. That there were such "prices as $14.33 to win, $5.72 for place and $3.43 for show." How about this? A—The corporal is right. At that time the track took no "breakage." Now if the calculation indicates each winning ticket should pay, for example, $4.59, the track takes nine cents. That's because they say it is too difficult to pay off prices requiring use of nickels and pennies.

TALL GIRLS: Three girl friends in Chicago, 17, 18 and 20 years old respectively, are all very tall. One is 6 feet in height, other two are little over 5 feet 10. They are all worried about their height. They want to know if our Horses & Women files have "any solution of the problems confronting tall girls." We think these young women are taking their height too seriously. According to our H & W experts it is a definite advantage for a girl to be tall if she knows how to handle and adorn her height.

★ ★ ★

SIDELIGHTS: Boston matrons want to know if the originator of the query, "How are you going to look in a bathing suit?" is also responsible for the question: "Are your birthdays showing?" She says both these queries make her shudder.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Returning to the debate on the proposition that members of the family of the late President Roosevelt commercialized the Presidency, this is to recall a radio program promoted by a group of candy manufacturers who, in 1942, were apprehensive lest candy be declared nonessential.

Westbrook Pegler

Like many other business interests, they were on the border line and might be ruled out on the ground that the ingredients which they used were better used as food in the ordinary sense of the word and their people and plants better employed otherwise.

Joseph W. Hicks, a public relations genius, was engaged to find a way, and presently came up with a device called the Council on Candy as Food in the War Effort. The firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne was engaged to handle the advertising.

★ ★ ★

ERNEST K. LINDLEY, a Washington journalist and sympathetic interpreter of the New Deal, was engaged as the news commentator for a radio program of 52 weeks. His wife, Mrs. Lindley, an intimate friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, was hired to help arrange the programs. In an earlier venture, Mrs. Lindley had represented Mrs. Roosevelt in negotiations for a season as commentator for the Pan-American Coffee Bureau in a program financed through the public taxes of a number of Latin-American republics.

The Council on Candy as Food wanted big names in acceptance of the principle propounded by the Buchanan agency, another advertising firm, in offering Mrs. Roosevelt as a radio attraction in the coffee program.

The candy manufacturers got Henry Wallace and Paul McNutt, generals and admirals for their radio program and were well pleased with the results. These individuals made no charge for their services.

IN THE COURSE of this season, Mrs. Roosevelt made two appearances of eight minutes each at a fee of $1500 per broadcast or just about $200 a minute and my authority, who had a part in the arrangements, understands that there was a third broadcast at $2500. What Mrs. Roosevelt did with the money is something that she has always deemed to be her own business, although there have been suggestions that it was devoted to purposes which were called charities.

A press handout, dated Dec. 3, 1942, from the offices of the council said "Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will give a report to the mothers of the nation on her recent trip to England in a coast to coast broadcast Wednesday evening, Dec. 9. The program will be presented by the Council on Candy as Food in the War Effort."

No mention was made of a fee to Mrs. Roosevelt for such a "report to the mothers of the nation," although that would seem to have been appropriate information for lack of which it may have been assumed that she was making this report free as a generous service to those mothers.

★ ★ ★

NO QUESTION is raised here as to the legality of the conduct of Mr. and Mrs. Lindley but if I had ever accepted a similar assignment and compensation from, say, Tom Girdler, of Republic Steel, who fought and beat President Roosevelt's CIO, the journalists of the New Deal would have called my fee a brass check.

But did Mrs. Roosevelt here commercialize the Presidency? The answer to that is another question: Why did the Council on Candy as Food select her?

★ ★ ★

REFERRING BACK NOW to the coffee broadcast, I am bound to report that John Hay Whitney, who was depicted as an enthusiastic helper in this commercial exploit in a survey prepared for the coffee bureau by the Buchanan agency, has written an amiable denial.

The Buchanan agency told the coffee bureau that Mr. Whitney, in charge of the moving picture division of the Rockefeller bureau for coordination of cultural and commercial relations between the American republics, "has agreed to see that interesting, delightful coffee-drinking scenes are placed in a great number of the most important motion pictures to be produced in Hollywood."

"I was approached by the Buchanan people with exactly the gigantic idea you quote," Mr. Whitney writes, "and I can remember wondering whether it is really true that there is no harm in trying. I thanked them, real polite, for their interest in our Latin-American program and gently closed the exit. It was very funny at the time. It's pretty funny, even now. Yours for the record, Jock Whitney."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13—If you can keep your mind on the movies today, you're better than I am. With one of my secretaries overseas with her husband and the other one with her best boy friend in a military hospital, the girls keep talking how wonderful it will be to have peace. I agree. So do you and so do we all. There isn't any news in the world as important to us, but still our movie show must go on.

Mary Martin

So in the midst of all this peace talk, it is very interesting to learn that Mary Martin arrives here Wednesday to go into "Night and Day." Yes, Jack Warner talked with her over the long distance telephone and she has agreed to play a part opposite Cary Grant, who is Cole Porter in this movie. Even more important, she will sing, "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," the song that catapulted her to fame.

This all means that Mary is in much better health. She was to have starred in "One Touch of Venus" for Mary Pickford, but she was much too sick at that time to come to Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

CESAR ROMERO put on his first civvies suit in over three years, took himself to his old stamping grounds, 20th Century-Fox, and was told he was elected for the starring role in "Three Little Girls in Blue." Yes, he plays a Latin lover, "Well, I'm right back where I started from," laughed "Butch," back from three years in the Coast Guard. But just as interesting as the news about Cesar is word Mack Gordan, 20th's top song writer (he's about tops in any league), will give up his tune writing to assume the post of producer of this picture. It's a good will opus the South American fans on the receiving end of the good neighbor nod.

★ ★ ★

SO YOU THINK we are having a strike in Hollywood? Listen to this: Fortunio Bonanova, arrived from Mexico City, says the strike situation there makes our fracas look pale. They don't fool down there. They're using guns. The Mexican Sindicato (guild) allowed Bonanova to work until midnight to finish his role in "Pepita Jiminez" at the Clasa studios, but then he must pick up his gun and go on the night shift of guard duty. The strike calls for every actor to defend by force and arms the grounds of the studio. Tony Moreno is also carrying a gun by night and "emoling" by day.

ARLINE JUDGE knew nothing about all the trouble in Chicago over her marriage to Morgan Ryan until she read the newspapers. "I was in Chicago for months and filed suit under my legal name of Mary Margaret Addams," she said. "They are trying to make a guinea pig of me, because of new laws in Chicago." Today was a busy day for the new Mrs. Ryan. She went to RKO to see about playing the second lead in Joan Fontaine's "All Brides Are Beautiful," and from there went to Del Mar with her bridegroom. I must say she didn't seem worried about the alleged charge of bigamy, hurled at her by Chicago authorities.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The Martha Raye-Nick Condos marriage is working out very well. Nick has become her manager and will abandon his dancing profession to devote time to the promotion of Martha's career. In the past her mother took care of her affairs and received a big slice of Martha's earnings. But her mother has been in the hospital and not very well, so I suppose she was glad to turn over her responsibility to Condos.

★ ★ ★

HERE'S A MARRIAGE that will interest Hollywood: Jerry Hackett, vice-president and assistant general manager of Technicolor, took a bride today. She is Josephine Woodluff, a non-professional and very, very attractive. Only a few friends were at the wedding. The bride and groom left immediately on a wedding trip. Herbert Kalmus, president of Technicolor, came home from Cape Cod this afternoon to be at the marriage of his business associate.

OUR OWN JEANETTE MACDONALD broke the Hollywood Bowl record when she sang to 20,000 people. Thrilling to hear encore after encore, and her final response with songs chosen by the audience—songs from her pictures. The reception given later by Maj. Gene Raymond brought film, civic and social celebrities. Jeanette was radiant as she greeted Gov. and Mrs. Earl Warren, Louis B. Mayer, Irene Dunne, lovely in a black gown with pale blue hat and matching gloves; Edward Arnold, Pat Morrison, Gen. and Mrs. Ralph Cousins, Eddie Mannix, Atwater Kent and several hundred others. In the receiving line with Jeanette was her singing teacher of many years, Grace Adele Newell. A nice gesture of appreciation.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski and her close friend, Mrs. William Saroyan, will have their babies about the same time; Betty Kern Jerome's daughter, and Sgt. Benny Oakland (writer of lyrics in peace time) are very, very happy these days; can you believe it? Gladys George and Simon Maxie are beginning to cuss! They were at Mike Lyman's, all those famous telephone conversations Georgie Jessel carried on with his mother, who passed away last week, are being put in book form; Marjorie and Brian Donlevy invited 75 of Walter Lang's pals to help him celebrate his birthday Friday. Walter and Fieldsy, who had been fishing with Brian and Cesar Romero and Mrs. William Powell, stopped at the Donlevy Malibu Beach house on the way home and there they were the surprise party, can it be true Greta Garbo and Brian Aherne have been seeing each other secretly the past few weeks? Pat Dane tells me she and Tommy Dorsey are planning to adopt a baby. "We are trying to arrange for one that will be born in November," she said; Lt. Richard Ney called to say goodbye. He has rejoined his crew. Poor Greer Garson had to work the very day he left.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—In order to fully appreciate the lovely nuances of the intelligence I am about to impart it is imperative you keep clearly in mind that the point system for Army discharges was ordered by America's top military man, Gen. George C. Marshall. He also took a major hand in working out the details.

Churchill

In other words, Gen Marshall is just about as competent an authority on the point system as you could get. It is not a subject anyone, particularly a member of the armed forces, would ordinarily choose to debate with him.

Nevertheless — here's what happened:

The tall, hard-bitten General of the Army decided to spend Sunday at his country home near Leesburg, Va. Goodness knows he needed a day of rest, the way things have been atomicking at the War Department lately.

To be inconspicuous and avoid the gaping stares and welter of saluting occasioned by five stars on the shoulder, he donned civilian clothes. And if you want to know how he can get away with a thing like that, let me ask this: who is going to stop him?

He was driving down the Leesburg pike when a young, red-headed, private gave him the thumb. The General, who doesn't get many hitch-hiking requests from privates, pulled to a stop and the G.I. clambered aboard.

The young soldier volunteered the information that he was an old veteran of the wars. He said he was home on furlough after three years overseas. He added that he had been in the Army more than four years.

"Been in combat?" asked the plainclothed general.

"I'll say I have!" exclaimed the private. "Three times!"

Gen. Marshall started to do some quick computing on his fingers. Then he said:

"They should have given you a discharge."

"Why?" asked the soldier.

"Because you've got more than enough points. They can't keep you in."

The private gave the general a pitying look.

"Listen, Mister," he said, "don't fall for that stuff. That's War Department baloney."

"No it isn't." retorted Gen. Marshall, warming up under the collar. "It's absolutely on the level."

"That's what they tell you civilians," said the soldier, "but it's not so. You've got to have a wife and kid to get out."

Gen. Marshall did more figuring.

"Now, let's see," he said, "You've been in the Army four years. One point for every month—that's 48 points. You've been overseas three years. One point for every month—that's 36 points. And three times in combat, 5 points for each time—another 15 points.

"That's 99 points. And you only need 85 to get out of the Army."

Drawn by Cpl. Lin Streeter—Released by The Associated Newspapers

Wait'll he gets home an' looks for a place to hang it . . .

He looked at the soldier triumphantly, but the youth only shook his head and repeated:

"You gotta have a wife and kid."

"I say you don't," Gen. Marshall insisted.

"Listen, mister, you got to have the 12 points for a wife and a kid!"

"You don't!"

"You do!"

The two—private and five-star General—got into an argument. Finally Marshall could contain himself no further. Startling his passenger half out of his skin, the General shouted:

"By Gad! I'm General Marshall! I say you can get out of the Army! You can and will—this very day!"

★ ★ ★

THE STORY, properly, should end on this inspiring and gladsome note But I must report that it had a sad sequel.

The young private caved in completely. He stammered that he had exaggerated slightly about his length of service overseas. He confessed he'd been there only three months—most of which he spent as a prisoner of war. He had been captured, with other members of the 106th Division, shortly after arriving.

He hadn't come back home on a furlough. He had been returned with other recaptured prisoners.

MORAL: If you want to argue the point-discharge system, pick somebody besides Gen. Marshall.

Miss Pat O'Malley, charming and vivacious assistant to the chairman of TWA, called up today. She sounded very concerned.

"Have you heard what is wrong with Churchill?" she asked.

"No," I said, perpetual sucker that I am. "What is wrong with him?"

"Why," replied Miss O'Malley, "he has a very serious ailment. He has Allies foot!"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: The dramatic history of horse-racing in New England, punctuated as it has been by such incidents as the state militia of one state making an armed camp of one track while the boss of the plant defied the Governor of the state . . . by the operation of an abbreviated race meeting in another state without the sanction of the authorities . . . by an earlier paper and bottle-throwing incident which was a rehearsal, it seems in retrospect, for Saturday's riot at Suffolk Downs may have a climax eventually in something wholesome for the various communities affected.

★ ★ ★

THAT CLIMAX would be a shorter racing "season" than the average 180 days of horse-racing in the territory which draws largely from the Greater Boston community (and bankroll) for its support . . . This "season" is altogether too long for a community such as ours in spite of claims that the "occasionals" and "tourists" contribute largely to the industry.

★ ★ ★

FOR THE FACT is that one sees many of the same faces day in and day out at the three New England horse-tracks, and we're not talking about the folks who make a living from the business—the horsemen . . . The saw that "horse-players always die broke" is as true today as it was when some philosopher—and he probably came long before the veteran Damon Runyon, who is credited sometimes with the observation—unburdened himself of his sage remark.

★ ★ ★

THE VERY mechanics of a business which takes a 12 per cent "kitty" from its supporters make it very certain that the pastime must be an expensive one to the players . . . Coupled, in this particular community, with the long-run season of 200 nights (in normal political times) of three dog tracks in just the one state of Massachusetts, the "grind" which the players are supposed to be able to offset is nothing less than insuperable . . . Race track players simply cannot stand it off.

★ ★ ★

CERTAINLY this department enjoys a day, or a week, or a month at the races as well as the next fellow . . . If a person is dumb enough to wish to make his summer's recreation a prolonged session of battling it out with the bangtails, then no one but himself is to be blamed, and—as yet—there is no state law which permits the boys in the white coats to reach out with their butterfly nets and scoop him up.

★ ★ ★

NOR IS it in order for such a person to indulge in what might sound like a patently phony gripe against "conditions" . . . That person nevertheless would be justified in getting a bit of protection, especially of his bodily health, when he goes to a race track in this enlightened community . . . For weeks, the fester which came to a boil Saturday at Suffolk Downs was under the surface . . . Condemnation of the just-ended meeting at East Boston was bitter and quite general among the "regulars."

★ ★ ★

YET THIS corner is impatient with laying all the blame on the management and some of the stewards . . . We should like to suggest that the Suffolk Downs meeting of 60 days (in ordinary times) is too long for one meeting . . . We realize that our suggestion for curtailing the horse-racing season in this vicinity is utopian . . . Forget that . . . It won't happen . . . But it should be possible to split the long Suffolk Downs meeting into two 30-day meetings . . . In so doing, the crescendo of "beefs" and gripes which always attend a race meeting can be transferred to another scene—and another victim.

★ ★ ★

LOU SMITH, canniest of the local race-track overseers, says that he welcomes complaints and gripes from his customers . . . "They always complain, and they always come back," the astute Mr. Smith told us recently . . . "I like to hear them have their say. I maintain that a customer of a race-track has a right to his or her opinion."

★ ★ ★

MUCH OF THE ONUS hanging over Suffolk Downs, which has never enjoyed wide popularity, has been due, in our opinion, to the prolonged season forced on the horse-players in one long gulp . . . Split it up, and give the customers a change of scenery . . . Narragansett does it successfully, and at not too insufferable a cost . . . So does Rockingham . . . And let us—for the preservation of the Sport of Kings and the Improvement of the Breed of Horses and Customers Alike—enjoy some professional supervision from an outstanding racing commission with authority and the guts to show it.

Smart Set Gala Race Week Ends

By BETTY ALDEN

PICTURESQUE Marblehead held its 56th annual race week this year at the Corinthian Yacht Club with ideal sailing weather rounding off a gala week-end. Reminiscent of days "before the war," the sail-covered harbor was viewed from the Lighthouse Point and Ft. Sewell benches of the yacht club.

Among those following the races were Brig. Gen. Philip S. Gage, ex-Gov. Frank G. Allen, Caleb Loring of Prides Crossing, Augustus Putnam and his sons, the Pinkhams, Mrs. Charles Mulcahy, Jr. (Mary O'Day), Mrs. Janson Noyes (Dorothy O'Day), Barbara Vickery of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Forsythe, Mrs. Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sohier Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Poor, Lt. Paul H. Keppie, USNAF, of Minnesota, visiting Miss Margery Watson of Marblehead, C. E. Morrison and Margaret and Sue Santry.

Included in the list of race entrants were Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence, The Moose; Mr. Daniel E. Watson, Lili Singva; Lt. Arthur Santry, USNR, who has just returned from the Pacific; Miss Cordelia MacPherson, Peggy and Ellen Connolly, Sheila and Patricia Pinkham, Ann Nowell, Ann O'Day, Lt. Tom D. Rowen, Lt. Walter Page, USNR. Ens. Francis C. Millspaugh, Sgt. Gregory Peter Connolly, USAAF, Robert S. Scully, USNR, and George Dyer O'Day, USNR.

Cooling off at the pool were William S. Prescott, E. J. Kenney, William O'Dale, Mrs. E. Friend, BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 13 (AP)—In warm weather, Van Garrison, sports editor of the Burlington Hawk-Eye Gazette, attended church wearing his bowling shirt beneath his coat.

The Rev. Bruce Masselink invited the males in his congregation to remove their coats. They did so, including Garrison.

There, blazoned on his back, was the name of a nationally-advertised beer.

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

GATHER AROUND MOTHERS for the adolescents hold our attention today. Before long, school doors will open again . . . and many a girl and boy will face not only new teachers but new pupils. And how this group enlarges . . . becomes a veritable army . . . in the mind of the pupil made more self-conscious by an oily, disturbed skin.

For the "breaking-out" age frequently bears small scars, little pits and roughnesses and obvious pores . . . as a result of this excessive oiliness and consequent disturbances . . . but the scars on mind and emotions are often far deeper. The self-conscious child too often becomes the recluse, anti-social, hesitant and the victim of a deep inferiority complex.

Fortunately, this youthful "breaking-out" usually responds to two simple steps in skin care . . . scrupulous cleanliness and a drying-up process. A cosmetic house . . . famous for its practical approach to skin problems . . . has an answer in a mild but scrupulous cleanser . . . an emulsion soap . . . and in a true sulphur vanishing preparation . . . a sulfo-collodio cream. Used in conjunction and correctly . . . the two work together . . . first, to provide an absolutely clean skin surface without harsh results . . . and secondly, to control the excess oil . . . to make the obnoxious blackhead easily removable . . . to dry up the externally caused pimple . . . and to produce a minor but important peeling of the surface skin . . . so prone to clog and jam tiny pore openings when it should flake off normally.

CREAM DOES NOT SHOW

The young, oily-disturbed skin should be washed three times daily . . . morning, midday or afternoon, and night with the emulsion soap. The sulfo-collodio cream should be well smoothed over all oily or disturbed areas and allowed to remain on while sleeping. Because of its vanishing base, the cream need not be apparent on the skin, according to the amount applied.

Thus, no boy need feel self-conscious about its use because it will not show. The cream forms a perfect base for powder . . . thus continuing the good work of the sulphur. With a disturbed skin no makeup other than a whiff of good powder should be used. Thus, youthful oiliness will usually quickly and thoroughly respond to simple, common sense care.

Sulphur has a rich medical history. Its use reaches back into antiquity in its crude, malodorous but effective state . . . for many conditions of skin and body. But in this cream the sulphur is highly refined, nearly odorless, hardly visible on skin form . . . easy to use . . . and highly effective.

For the names of this soap and cream with sulphur benefits, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PRETTY PROP for junior suit or skirt wardrobes is a frost-white Eastman acetate rayon blouse with dainty eyelet ruffling for the stand-up collar . . . and soft ripples at the front and sleeve edges. But how much more attractive would a youngster be if her complexion was as crisp and beautiful as the youthful model and her pretty blouse. Adolescence usually means oily-skin troubles . . . but any youngster can be tided over this trying period with simple common sense skin care.

Capacious Bonnets Near Top of Fall Style Parade

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS fall when you get a new bonnet it may very well be a real bonnet, for this kind of thing is being shown by our best millinery designers. And the bonnet this time is no pint-size affair that sits on top of your head. It is a real big and capacious bonnet that comes down to the nape of your neck, as can be seen by consulting our sketch.

This is one of the new hats for fall just introduced by Reine. It is a bonnet taken from what glamor girls wore in Napoleon's time. Made of a soft blue tie silk it has a halo brim very soft and flattering because it is pleated all the way around.

The crown is soft and puffy, too, and to make the scenery more flattering Reine puts on a face veil that ends just at the end of your cute little nose.

Hearty Salads

Fashion

By MARTHA LEE

A HEARTY MEAT salad stepping in as the main dish of a summer meal is often welcome when meat 'n gravy are scarce. To keep the menu away from the chilly side, surround the cold meat salad with hot foods—a hot vegetable, hot muffins or rolls, and plenty of hot tea or coffee will do the trick.

Frankfurters, canned luncheon meat, bologna, or any leftover cooked meat may be used as the basis of the main dish meat salad. Whatever the meat used, the flavor of the salad is heightened if the meat cubes or slices are marinated in French dressing for a short time.

Plan a summer dinner menu around one of these extra good, hearty meat salads:

FRANKFURTER SUPPER SALAD

2 cups thinly sliced frankfurters
2 cups cooked macaroni (1 cup uncooked)
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup diced cucumbers
2 hard cooked eggs
3 tbsp. finely chopped green pepper
2 tbsp. grated onion
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
½ tsp. celery seed
Salt and pepper
Salad dressing or mayonnaise

Pour a little sharp French dressing over the frankfurters and let them marinate in it for ½ hour or more. Add macaroni, diced eggs, vegetables, seasonings and enough salad dressing or mayonnaise to moisten.

SAVORY MEAT SALAD

3 cups cooked meat, cubed
1½ cups sliced celery
1-3 cup chopped sweet pick.
2 tbsp. grated onion
6 tbsp. French dressing
Salt and pepper
⅔ cup salad dressing or novelty mayonnaise

Mix meat, celery, pickle, onion and French dressing. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Chill for an hour and drain, reserving the dressing for a future salad. Mix with novelty mayonnaise made by mixing ¾ cup mayonnaise with 2 tbsp. chopped olives, 4 tbsp. catsup and 1 finely chopped hard-cooked egg. Season with salt and pepper to suit taste. Makes 4 servings.

FRANKFURTER-BEAN SALAD

1½ cups sliced frankfurters
1 No. 2 can kidney beans
½ cup chopped sour pickles
¾ cup French dressing
1 head lettuce
Green onions

Drain kidney beans and add frankfurters, pickles, and ½ cup French dressing. Chill. Break lettuce into pieces and place alternate layers of frankfurter-bean mixture and lettuce and sliced green onions in a salad bowl. Pour the remaining French dressing over all. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

HERE IS THE little black dress designed for important occasions that has a dramatic splash of flower color at the waist . . . and the important fashion trends of the new season . . . the new front full skirt drape artfully placed to slim the figure. Designer Gothe also repeats the drape influence at the neck . . . where skilful handling brings about a soft sweetheart throat line. And the Chanda bonnet . . . a fluff halo attached to a head band is fresh for a happy outlook.

—R. M.

SALAD BOWL A LA SUISSE

2 cups diced, cooked lamb
½ cup pared, diced cucumber
½ cup cooked or canned peas
½ cup French dressing
1 cup shredded lettuce
½ cup salad dressing
Lettuce

Mix the meat, cucumber, peas and French dressing and let chill 30 minutes. Just before serving combine with the shredded lettuce and salad dressing, and arrange in a salad bowl lined with lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Fokes, the time is NEAR (mebbe HERE by the time this goes to press) when we kin be thankful we on the home front stayed in there pitchling, staying on the war job, buying bonds till it hurt, and in other ways remaining true to those wonderful boys who were REALLY true to the red, white and blue. Yessir, we kin be thankful our prayers have been answered, that many, many ov the boys will come back safe becoz the end iz sooner, perhaps, than expected. What they've done fer us iz sumthing I'm afraid we'll too soon ferget, unless we make up our minds right now that nuthin's too good fer 'em, no courtesy, no loan, no job, no education, no nuthin' atall! . . . Ya kno, when celebratun' time comes, and this is one Vday where all out celebration can't be criticized, providing it's orderly, don't you fokes fergit wot I've been telling you fer weeks and years, that me popular Grille here on Essex Street is a real favorite of the boys in uniform and a real place to have a celebrashun party. Here you'll find the spirit and the atmosfere that guarantee a great time fer all, and an air of friendliness that can't be matched in Boston's swankest spots. So remember, for a grand time and best in drinks, music and fun, visit me 25 Essex Street Grille. Advt

Would Wed Wife-Beater's Mate

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a single man of 23 in love with a married woman of 25 who has a child 3 years old. I've asked her to get a divorce and marry me, but she afraid her husband might harm her.

They get along fine except when he gets angry and then he beats her up pretty badly for no reason at all. She says she loves me enough to leave him, but doesn't want to give him the little girl. I love her so much that I can't work unless I see her a couple of times a week.

At first my family objected, but now they think perhaps something may work out in our favor. What do you think of our case? J. E.

You don't say whether you are willing to adopt this little girl and be as good a stepfather as you know how, if the child's mother gets a divorce and agrees to marry you. This question should be settled positively before a decision is reached.

As for a woman putting up with beatings just because her husband is angry, is a situation as absurd as it's tragic. The wife should lose no time in going to the Legal Aid Society for redress for such brutality. Personally, I wished the man lived in one of our States where wife-beaters are sentenced to the whupping-post, and the jeering crowd looks on.

Million Reward For Hitler Urged

POPPLARVILLE, Miss., Aug. 13 (AP)——Sen. Theo G. Bilbo said today he would introduce a measure in Congress offering a million dollar reward to anyone capturing Hitler alive.

Expressing doubt Hitler is dead, Bilbo said his bill would also grant immunity from prosecution as a war criminal to any person aiding in Hitler's capture.

"I do don't believe Hitler is dead. I feel he should be captured, tried and shot as a war criminal. However, if there are any folks who object, if they will let me know I will be the glad to pay their share of the millions," he said.

SHUBERT — "MR. STRAUSS GOES TO BOSTON," new musical based on the visit of the "Waltz King" to Boston in 1872. Produced by Felix Brentano with music by Robert Stoltz, settings by Stewart Chaney and costumes by Walter Florell, George Rigaud plays the title role, with a supporting cast headed by Virginia MacWatters, Ralph Dumke and Ruth Matteson.

COLONIAL—"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES," M-G-M's spectacular Technicolor in its world premiere. William Powell as the late Flo Ziegfeld, members of the old Follies including Fannie Brice, Fred Astaire and Victor Moore, dazzling array of beautiful damsels, plus Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Lena Horne, James Melton, Kathryn Grayson and many others.

August 27

COLONIAL—"LIFE WITH FATHER" with Carl Benton Reid and Betty Linley as Father and Mother Day. The comedy is now in its 7th year on Broadway.

PLYMOUTH—"TEN LITTLE INDIANS," Agatha Christie's mystery play in its first Boston presentation, after a long Broadway run, with most of the original cast. Albert de Courville directs.

August 28

WILBUR—"DEVILS GALORE," a new comedy by Eugene Vale to be produced by William Cahn and directed by Robert Perry, erstwhile director at the Cambridge Summer Theater and of the Broadway success, "Dark of the Moon." Ernest Cossart, Rex O'Malley, Jimmy Elliott and Tony Eden head the cast.

September 7

OPERA HOUSE—SAN CARLO OPERA CO. Fortune Gallo presents his opera company in its annual national tour for a ten-day Boston engagement, with Mary Henderson and several former Metropolitan Opera singers.

September 10

PLYMOUTH—"THERESE," with Eva Le Gallienne, Victor Jory and Dame May Whitty, with Margaret Webster directing. The Theater Guild will present it for the first time.

WILBUR—"EMILY," a new psychological drama by John Colton and Robert Parrie, starring Simone Simon of the cinema. Albert de Courville is the director. Theatre may be changed.

September 17

SHUBERT—"SPRING IN BRAZIL," new musical starring Milton Berle. Lee Shubert is the producer, with John Murray Anderson doing the staging.

OPERA HOUSE—"THE TEMPEST," the Cheryl Crawford-Margaret Webster Shakespearean drama in a one-week return engagement.

I'D LIKE TO SPEAK TO THE LADY OF THE HOUSE
SHE'S BUSY AND ANYWAY WE DON'T WANT ANY!
I DIDN'T ASK YOU—I WANT TO TALK TO YOUR WIFE
I TOLD YOU SHE'S BUSY
GEE, HOW I HATE HUSBANDS!
8-13

LIGGS
TEN ACROSS—BOB O'LINK—
THAT'S ONE OF TH' BIGGEST GAMBLERS AT THE TRACK—I WISH WE KNEW WHAT HE WROTE ON THAT PAPER—LOOK! HE THREW IT AWAY! GO GET IT—
AT LAST—NOW WE'LL GET SOME REAL DOPE!
BAH—HE WAS ONLY DOIN' A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE—AND HE CAN'T EVEN FIGURE THAT OUT—
NO DICE!

ANN ROONEY
IT'S ALL SO ADORABLY ADORABLE! PICTURE ME AN ASH-COVERED CINDERELLA—THEN YOU WAVE YOUR MAGIC WAND AND—
PRESTO! CHANGE-O! CINDERELLA IS A SHAKESPEAREAN ACTRESS!
MY BEAUTIFUL FAIRY GOD-MOTHER! HOW CAN I EVER THANK YOU?
NONSENSE, CHILD, YOUR BEAUTY, TALENT AND YOUTH ARE MORE POTENT THAN MAGIC
DARRELL McCLURE
GLORYOSKY! YOU AND MISS DOLLY ARE GONNA GET MARRIED! IT MAKES ME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER!
8-13

DOUBLE TROUBLE
—AN' THEY PICKED MOTHER'S BEST ROSES!
—AN' WHEN SHE TOL' THEM T'GO HOME ——O-O-OH!—
Y'KNOW WHAT THEY DID!?—THEY SLAPPED MOTHER'S PETUNIAS—LIKE THAT—AN' RAN!
OOH! SHE'S TELLIN' LIARS, MOM!
YEAH!—WE DIDN'T EVEN TOUCH HER MOTHER!
8-13

Peace Calls On Industry For Another Big Miracle

By AUSTEN LAKE

PEACE COMES AS ABRUPTLY as war did on Dec. 7, 1941. Yet the nation finds itself less prepared for the sudden dislocations and economic convulsions of peace than it was to meet the Jap sneak attack. Washington's war-visionaries had alerted industry and manpower twelve months before Pearl Harbor. But our peace visionaries haven't alerted anybody.

Austen Lake

No one who saw the enormous quantities of men and material poured into England, France and Germany during the years before Nazi defeat could help but be awed by the tremendous industrial forces behind our fighting troops. The never-ending truck convoys that snaked along the roads, the mosquito swarms of planes, the warehouses of food and equipment made one stand reverentially and bow gratefully to the splendid energies and brain-power of a people who could deliver such weapons and stuff.

American industry performed the miracle which won the war. Now another miracle of equal or greater magnitude awaits. Within six months after V-J Day our factories, plants and business must be reconverted to the uses, employments and trades for which they were originally created. The dictates of necessity and the dangers of failure are as great today as they were 44 months ago when the New Deal suddenly stopped badgering business and summoned the major industrial leaders to solve the riddle of war conversion.

Industry and Labor Teamed Magnificently

THAT AMERICA DID THIS in an amazingly short time was due to the capacities, technical knowledge and organization of the same big businesses which New Deal gadfly orators had been assaulting by every knack of word and mouth. They were "octopi," "money Bourbons," "industrial royalists," "monopolistic barons" and similar political sniderics. Yet in the showdown American business and the skill of its workers saved the nation. It was sheer wizardry!

I say with devout honesty that I never understood the full implications of being American till I stood in the fields of Normandy and saw the enormous stacks of every imaginable commodity. I never ceased to marvel, and neither did the natives of those countries who loitered by the roadsides all day long and gaped at the passing pageant. America's terrific fabricating might was on parade.

Today we've got the reverse of that job to do better and faster. If we don't the penalties may be as drastic as those a victorious Germany and Japan would have inflicted on us in defeat.

We are a strange people, we Americans—capable of a sudden spasm of constructive energy and teamplay in war emergency, and yet likely to slump into easy-going inertia and begin factional disputes and political pettifogging when the crisis is over. That's our imminent danger now—to resume the party jealousies, regional greeds, factional strifes and political torpor that caused the other postwar depression. Already agitators are predicting an epidemic of strikes broadcast over the nation the moment that war ends. That would be committing economic hara-kiri.

I have in my office-file dozens of letters from workers on this subject, some of them simmering down to the strange philosophy that, "This is what our sons and relatives are fighting for—the right to strike." It's only one man's opinion but I contend that the very opposite is true, that our soldiers fought to settle social disputes by peaceful, honest arbitration without recourse to coercion and activism.

They fought to oblige neighboring peoples to settle their differences by frank discussions and mutual concessions. That's an elementary lesson in human intelligence. Wars don't solve international problems and strikes won't solve national ones. To launch wholesale strikes now would be to paralyze reconversion. It's a time for mutual tolerance in a nerve-taut world.

Discharges Depend on Quick Reconversion

THE GREATEST CRIME OF OUR day would be any civilian act or failure that obstructs or delays the swift release of millions of our soldiers and sailors who will have to be held in service pending industry's capacity to absorb them. They will be leaked out gradually in drips, squirts and dribbles while the nation prepares machinery to beat its swords into plowshares. And the temper of those tough, self-sacrificial men is not one to brook unnecessary delay by civil problems.

The society of the hedgerows and foxholes, wardrooms and battle decks knows only one thing: that each man surrendered his individualism and has been resolved into an anonymous atom within the mighty force which beat Germany and Japan. He is as remote from the controlling intelligences of the nation as is any village barber from the brain centers of Congress. All he knows is what little he saw—the smashed skeletons of German Panzer tanks, the rubble of destruction, the backwash of dislocated humanity. He has had no broader panorama than that.

So don't expect him to understand the mysteries of supply and demand, or the problems of retooling, raw materials, or inflationary trends. Tell with that! What kind of jobs are open? How much does a guy have to pay for clothes? How much do they soak you for a good dinner? When do we get discharged?

The Army can do something about discharges right now. By publicly avowing a policy of "First in, first out" to release men with the longest service. Also there is no reason why the 565,000 point-eligible soldiers who are retained as "essential" should not immediately join their released 235,000 brethren who have gone whooping back to civil life on points. There's no essentiality now! Well, is there? One other thing the Army and Navy could do—release all court-martialled personnel convicted of purely military misdemeanors. We've performed one miracle! We can perform another! Let's go!

Barrett Homers for Bucs

By BILL GRIMES

BRAVES FIELD, Aug. 13—A small crowd turned out to witness the third game of the current five-game series between the Braves and Pirates which winds up with a doubleheader tomorrow. Pirate Ken Gables and Nate Andrews of the Tribe were the opposing pitchers.

Manager Del Bissonette sent Morris Aderholt into left field. It was Aderholt's start for the Braves as a fielder.

FIRST INNING

PIRATES—Barrett hit a home run over the right field screen. Gionfriddo and Russel grounded out to Shupe. Elliott struck out. ONE RUN.

BRAVES—Nelson fanned. Shupe's grounder bounced off Gable's glove to Gustine who threw him out. Holmes grounded to Gustine. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

PIRATES — Salkeld singled. Culler threw out Dahlgren. Gustins lined to Shupe whose throw to Culler doubled Salkeld off second. NO RUNS.

BRAVES — Aderholt singled. Workman grounded out to Dahlgren. Aderholt taking second. Gillenwater popped to Elliott. Masi singled, scoring Aderholt. Masi stole second. Culler walked. Andrews grounded out to Dahlgren. ONE RUN.

THIRD INNING

PIRATES—Barnhart flied to Holmes. Gables to Aderholt. Barrett walked. Gionfriddo singled. Russell grounded to Culler. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Nelson doubled. Shupe singled, scoring Nelson and when Gionfriddo's throw to second hit Gustine in back of the head Shupe continued to second. Holmes singled, scoring Shupe. Aderholt flied to Barrett. Gables threw out Workman. Elliott threw out Gillenwater. TWO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

PIRATES—Elliott doubled. Nelson threw out Salkeld, Elliott reaching third. Dahlgren flied to Gillenwater, Elliott scoring after the catch. Gustine singled. Gustine took second on a wild pitch. Barnhart walked. Gables popped to Nelson. ONE RUN.

BRAVES—Masi popped to Gustine. Barnhart threw out Culler. Andrews struck out. NO RUNS.

Rickey Group Buys Control of Dodgers

BROOKLYN, Aug. 13 (AP)—Branch Rickey and his associates, Walter F. O'Malley, and John L. Smith, said today they had purchased a controlling stock interest in the Brooklyn National League baseball club.

Rickey, president of the club, said that the trio had arranged for the purchase of the 50 per cent of the club's stock from the heirs of the late Charles H. Ebbets. The purchase price was not disclosed, but estimated to be in the neighborhood of $750,000.

Rickey and his associates now own 75 per cent of the outstanding stock, they, in conjunction with a fourth partner, Andrew Schmitz, having bought 25 per cent last winter from the Edward J. McKeever estate. The remaining 25 per cent of the stock is held by Mrs. James Mulvey, daughter of the late Stephen McKeever. Her tsock is not for sale.

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT BALDNESS

Our professional business is, in simple English, the care and treatment of the hair and scalp. First of all, let me be very blunt and say very simply but emphatically that we do not and cannot regrow hair. And as far as we have been able to determine neither can anyone else. Secondly, we wish to make it quite plain that our only function is to provide men and women with a simple, sensible and effective method of treating the hair and scalp so as to keep it healthy, alive and attractive.

The best evidence of our integrity is to visit one of our offices to experience for yourself how we work. There is no charge or obligation for a private examination and consultation. If you decide then to take treatment, the decision is entirely yours. We employ no salesmen. Our treatments are at your convenience and the modest fee we charge is payable only when you take a treatment.

Hours: Monday, Wednesday and Friday 11:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

Billy Conn to Get Title Go With Louis Next June

By JACK CONWAY

JOE LOUIS WILL defend his world's heavyweight championship against Billy Conn in a New York ball park next June. It is likely that Louis and Conn will each receive their Army discharges this year, and then get down to the serious business of training for a million dollar ring show.

It is not believed that either Louis or Conn will risk defeat or injury by taking on any other opponents until they meet. The "Brown Bomber" has told this writer repeatedly that Conn will receive the first crack at his title.

Billy Conn

Louis has two very good reasons for preferring to meet Conn rather than tangling with some heavyweight who has been more active in the ring. Conn, like Louis, has been in the Army, and has gathered ring rust. His timing cannot be expected to be as effective as it was when he last fought the champion.

Louis also knows that Conn as an opponent will result in a million-dollar gate. As champion, Louis will receive more than $400,000 as his end of the purse. High income taxes, of course, will take the larger part of this money, but Joe will still have enough left to pay off on an old tax bill to Uncle Sam and to care for other obligations incurred while he has been in service.

Louis has explicit confidence in his ability to win from Conn. Joe's ring history proves that he always shows to better advantage against an opponent when he meets him for the second time. Max Schmeling will bear testimony to this fact. Schmeling knocked Louis out in 11 rounds in their first tussle, but when he met a more experienced Louis two years later he was stopped in less than two minutes.

Louis' Kayo Punch

IT WILL be Louis' punch that will give him the advantage over Conn when they collide again. Even if Joe has lost some of his speed, he will be able to hit as hard as ever. The last thing a ring champion loses is his ability to hit.

Jack Dempsey, trying to win his title back from Gene Tunney at Chicago, was still a mighty puncher. In the seventh round, the old Manassa Mauler broke through Tunney's almost perfect defense and dropped the title holder to the canvas with a left hook to the jaw. As Tunney was falling, Dempsey hit him with a half a dozen terrific body blows. Jack missed one left hook to the jaw which would have knocked Tunney cold.

The famous "Long Count" followed. Tunney was on the canvas for at least 14 seconds. Referee Dave Barry refused to start the count until Dempsey had retired to the nearest neutral corner as is required by the rules of boxing.

While making a war bond tour with Dempsey a year ago last winter, Jack was frank in telling his audiences that he tossed away his chance to win back his title.

"I should have gone to the nearest neutral corner when I knocked Tunney down," asserted Dempsey. "If I had, I think I would have won.

"In my bout with Louis Firpo, I got the break when I was assisted back into the ring. If the rules had been enforced, I could have lost my title."

Boxing Boom Ahead

THERE WILL soon be hundreds of boxers getting discharges from the armed services. This will result in a boxing boom that will equal the one of the Golden Twenties.

I look for some young heavyweights to be developed in the postwar period. It takes from three to five years to bring along a heavyweight to a point he can oppose top opposition.

Louis may be able to hold on to his title until one of these new ring stars is developed as it does not appeear as if the "Brown Bomber" would experience too much trouble winning from any of the present list of contenders.

Wellesley Puts On Learn to Swim

Another championship swimming meet, held in conjunction with the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser "Learn To Swim" campaign, will be staged next Saturday afternoon by the Wellesley Post, A. L., at Morse's pond, Wellesley, with William J. Delaney as chairman.

Graduates of the Learn To Swim classes will be competing in 50-yard freestyle events for boys and girls under 13 years of age.

La Forest Sparkles At Bat and in Field

By HERB FINNEGAN

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13—Bryon "Ty" La Forrest is starting his second week at third base for the Red Sox. How's he doing? Let's check while the Sox are waiting around the lobby for tonight's game with the Indians. He's played 11 games. He's been at bat 47 times, has made 14 hits for a .296 average. That's 50 points better than either Jack Tobin or Jim Bucher was hitting when they were stationed at the far turn.

Strange thing about La Forrest. He hasn't hit a ball to left field yet. Most of his hits are down the right field line. ("I don't care where he hits as long as he hits," says Cronin.) In Detroit, York played him on the line and robbed him of several hits. Another time Cullenbine played him close to the line and took a triple from him in the deep right field corner. He bats right handed, you know, yet the league is playing him like a left handed pull hitter.

He was a big help to Ferriss as the latter won his 19th victory in Sunday's first game. He sacrificed Lake to second in the first inning. He bounced a single over the pitcher's head in the fourth. He singled cleanly to right in the sixth and in the seventh put the game in the bag by pasting a two-run double to right. In the ninth inning of the second game his triple cleared Secrey's head in right field.

Will the outfielders keep his average down by "bunching" him? Perhaps. Yet Bill Terry batted .401 without pulling a ball. And Luke Appling first led the A. L. when he hit only to the opposite field.

At any rate it will be nice if La Forest keeps hitting as well as he has been doing this past week. He's got speed and enthusiasm and adds life to the infield. He can fly around the bases. Won a base circling contest at Louisville before he came up. Like can run, yet when McBride tripled in Washington with the bases loaded, La Forest was on Lake's back at the plate, and Eddie had started from second, La Forest from first.

LIKE CAT IN FIELD

He's a cat in the field, too. He's made some slick plays, started several fast double plays and has kicked only one ground ball since he joined the club. The long throw from behind the bag doesn't bother him either.

"I just let it go," he said, "I know Camilli will catch it."

Yes, he's making the grade to date, and he's such a scrapper he'll probably continue to improve. Let's hope so. It's about time some kid from Fields Corner made the Red Sox. There have been plenty from that district who could have made it if they had been given the chance.

FERRISS? . . . Wonderful. Had his control, and his curve ball was snapping. Passed only one man. Fanned Boudreau, Hayes, MacKiewicz in the second inning, started off the third by fanning Cihocki. His work was particularly encouraging because he's been pestered with hay fever for a week. If he can win in his present condition, he'll again be the shutout kid in cooler weather. And he's hitting the ball.

CLARK? . . . Too early to pass judgment. He doesn't seem fast but he has a good curve ball. Throws a lot of soft stuff. He had just come in from Kansas City where he left the Louisville club. It was a long ride, and he was tired. Let's give him another starting shot before passing opinion.

O'NEILL (8-6) is due tonight. He's been troubled with a sore finger which accentuated his wildness. He should be better tonight than he was in Washington or Detroit . . . Jim Steiner swings a bat with authority. Throws well, too, but he's slow. Well, you can't expect perfection at the waiver price. His single off Center was a line drive over Rocco's head . . . Lazor, Saturday's star, made only one hit in nine trips Sunday.

Net Spotlight On Longwood

The tennis spotlight was focused today on Longwood.

Top-flight women tennis players vie in the invitation singles starting tomorrow.

The second war-time edition of the National Veterans' singles and doubles championship was to start today.

J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., was on hand to defend his singles title. Also at Longwood to defend their doubles championship were Watson Washburn and Arthur MacPherson, New York.

Pauline Betz, Los Angeles, national champion, and Margaret Osborne, Brookline, ranking second nationally, lead the star-studded field in the woman's tournament.

The return of Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, Boston, after almost four years' absence from competition, is a highlight.

Among those in the women's half of the veterans' tourney are Mrs. Hazel H. Wightman, Brookline; Edith Sigourney, Boston, and Eleonora Sears, Pride's Crossing.

Roslindale Marks Time in Park Loop

After an abbreviated week of playoff tournaments, the Boston Park Leaguers managed to bring one of the three series to a close with the Roslindale Town Team, the most surprising young team of the year, eliminating the McCarthy Club of South Boston in the two-out-of-three "C" series.

The Roslindale club will be idle until a decision is reached between the Linehan Club of South Boston and the Hal Crosby Club of Roxbury—Series "B" contestants.

The victor of "C" series will engage the Roslindale Club in another best two-out-of-three conflict for the right to enter the finals for the Boston Park League championship.

Navy Yard Plays Crack Monarchs

The Navy Yard A. A., battling for the Boston Park League championship, will move into Braves Field, tonight, for a floodlight game with the Kansas City Monarchs, paced by Leroy "Satchel" Paige, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Rear Adm. Felix X. Gygax, U. S. Navy, is expected to throw out the first ball.

Paige is generally regarded as one of the greatest pitchers in baseball ranks. His tricky right-hand pitches have stamped him as one of the best of all time. Among his supporting cast will be Jackie Robinson, former UCLA star, who recently had a tryout at shortstop with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Curt Fullerton of the Navy Yard will send Joe Callahan, former Braves pitcher, to the mound.

Cheer False News

Thousands of cheering New Yorkers jammed Times Sq., for a victory celebration following the erroneous news flash by the United Press that the war was over. Their cheers turned to groans as later reports informed them that the war was still on.

Waiting

Awaiting announcement of the war's end, a solitary WAVE, S 2c Kathleen Flanagan of Worcester, stares at the White House in paper-littered Pennsylvania ave., again quiet after last night's premature celebration.

In Boston

An enthusiastic crowd stormed Tremont st. following the report that peace had been restored. Traffic was stopped and merrymakers danced in the streets. But their celebration was short-lived.
